Commissioners Appropriate $633,844 For Operations of County This Year

COMMISSIONERS WIND UP WORK on 1956 Fayette County appropriations. They are (seated, left to right) Robert Cockerill, Clifford Hughes and Ralph Minton. Much of Total Expected From State and U. S.

The county commissioners have made 1956 appropriations amounting to nearly two-thirds of a million dollars.

The appropriations total, covering county government operations for the coming year, was $633,844.76. That gived exactly with the total approved by the budget commission, though within the total, a few department's appropriations were changed.

According to Auditor Harry Allen, clerk of the county commission, the changes were routine ones made necessary because "estimates never are exactly the same as final figures."

Fayette County taxpayers will pay out only a little over a third of the $633,844.76 total in the form of general property taxes of $220,000 and classified personal property taxes totaling $2,500.

There are, of course, other ways in which Fayette Countians contribute to the fund from which appropriations are made. The chief ways are through their federal and state taxes, portions of which come back to the county through allotments to the funds for county road maintenance and repair, aid to dependent children, blind relief, poor relief and others.

Additional sources of income are state cigarette and sales taxes, plus fees of county officers, fines, and so on. These are expected to contribute $117,171 to the county's general fund this year.

Other sources of revenue are $175,000 of the general property taxes and the $2,500 anticipated from classified taxes. Together with the $21,389.03 balance left in the general fund at the beginning of this year, the total comes to $316,060.03—balancing the general fund appropriations just authorized by the county commissioners.

The general fund covers appropriations to most of the county departments.

In addition to the general fund, appropriations were made from the motor vehicle and gas tax fund, dog and kennel fund, retirement fund for bonds on Memorial Hospital, poor relief, aid to dependent children and aid to the needy blind.

GENERAL FUND appropriations covered the following departments: county commissioners ($6,500), county auditor ($31,620), county treasurer ($11,996), prosecuting attorney ($5,940), bureau of inspection ($500), common pleas court ($11,406.78), domestic relations and juvenile court ($750), probate court ($15,050) and clerk of courts ($11,826).

Coroner ($600), Jeffersonville justice's and Washington C. H. municipal courts ($2,770.18), elections ($20,100), Court House and jail ($16,168), GAR Hall ($3,180), sheriff ($24,070), recorder ($9,080) and Extension Service, Fairgrounds rental, fox bounties and other agricultural ($15,600).

TB Hospital and care ($5,000), registrar of vital statistics ($240), other health ($2,000), County Home ($6,070), child welfare board ($13,900), Children's Home ($44,250), blind relief ($823), aid to dependent children ($9,000), soldiers' re-

Union Twp. Zoning Plan Set Up

MAKING A POINT at the first official meeting of the Union Township zoning commission—now the board of appeals -- Frank Dill (second from left) gestures toward George Pensyl (far right) chairman of the Washington C. H. zoning board of appeals. With the newly set up regulations in affect as of Jan. 1, the township board met Thursday night with Pensyl in an advisory position to polish up phrasing on the zoning regulations. The board, the result of a voters' petition last spring was appointed by the township trustees in the early fall but was not official until the first of the year. They are (left to right, above) Osman King, secretary recently appointed by the board; Frank Weade, Glenn Heistand, chairman Carl Wilt and Pensyl. Unable to attend the meeting was Joe White, the other member. (Record-Herald photo)

The first official meeting of the Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals was held Thursday night, with George Pensyl, chairman of the Washington C. H. board of appeals, sitting in as technical advisor.

The board became official — along with zoning — Jan. 1, when regulations by the township trustees went into affect.

The voters of the township approved zoning for the area in the November ballot — the Board of Appeals was set up by the trustees according to state statute.

Starting off with a petition for zoning regulations by a group of citizens last spring, the five-man appeals board was picked as a zoning commission by the trustees to set up a zoning plan and hold public hearings before the November elections.

The group has been working unofficially since then, gleaning advice and ideas from Union Twp. residents and other communities in setting up a zoning code.

Although the phrasing has to be polished a bit, according to Chairman Carl Wilt, regulations are now in affect. Any Union Township resident planning to build anything other than farm buildings must now first get a building permit.

Appeal Board members are unpaid. The one paid agent of the board is Osman King, appointed by the board as secretary. He is the man who will handle the details of issuing permits. His income and expenses of the board will be covered by permit fees, according to Wilt. The secretary's job is part time, aside from his regular work.

The board itself is set up to do just what the name implies, serve as a group the people may appeal to if there is a conflict between a project and the zoning regulations. By state law, any part of the regulations may be appealed to the board.

The word-polishing is being done before the regulations are put in pamphlet form, to be submitted to the trustees and to be available to township residents.

The zoning regulations are set up along the same line as the city zoning code, Wilt said, following the state statutes.

Members on the board of appeals are chairman Carl Wilt, who will serve a five-year term; Glenn Heistand, appointed for four years; Joe White, three years, Frank

Sizable Expansion Made By This City Last Year

The year 1955 was an important one in the history of Washington C. H.

It not only was featured by many things accomplished under the supervision of City Manager James F. Parkinson and authorization of city council, but was also featured by greatest area growth of the city in many a year through annexation.

As result of the business-like handling of its affairs, the city completed the year with $10,332.41 in the general fund, with all bills paid. This was accomplished in the face of steadily mounting operation costs.

The balance is said to be the largest in the general fund in many years and was left after $10,000 was set aside for the new traffic signal installation, which will eventually cost an estimated $25,000.

Another $10,000 was transferred to the sewage revenue fund to pay $4,575 on a nine-year-old debt to the federal government for plans and specifications for a modern sanitary sewer system and disposal plant additions and also for making plans and specifications and meeting other expenses toward the betterment of the sewage disposal system.

THE LARGEST street improvement program carried out in many years was completed.

Heavy blacktop resurfacing was carried out on Circle Avenue, West Elm Street, Oakland Avenue, Oak Street, Ogle Street, Delaware Street, and Olive Street, at a cost of $23,378.40.

In addition to this a great deal of surface treating with hot asphalt and stone chips was done.

A great deal of patching was done and fissures in some of the main streets sealed with hot asphalt, which is now available through use of the new asphalt kettle purchased. Hot mix is also now available from a new plant where it can be obtained daily throughout the winter as well as in the summer.

The resurfacing and surface treating cost around $18,000 to $20,000. Much of the work was made possible by the 1.95 mill levy voted two years ago and still has three years to run.

Some of the new machinery and equipment for caring for the streets etc., was also made possible through the special levy and funds available from special taxes.

Westinghouse Refuses Plan By Mediator

PITTSBURGH — Westinghouse Electric Corp. refused late yesterday to accept a federal mediator's proposal for ending a nationwide strike. It suggested instead a plan pegged to a secret ballot by striking employees on a contract offer already rejected by union chiefs.

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers said in Washington the secret ballot by 44,000 IUE members in 30 plants would be acceptable—if there were a choice between the company offer and union demands.

Federal mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said he wanted Westinghouse to clarify the proposal by putting in writing the specific questions the IUE members would be asked to vote on.

Finnegan had proposed Wednesday that a three-man fact-finding board be appointed to try to agree on a settlement. The IUE accepted the proposal. Westinghouse rejected it yesterday.

Meanwhile, in Columbus, the sheriff's office reported normal picketing at the struck Westinghouse plant today.

Home, World Picture Said Not Very 'Rosy'

Senate Leader Paces Attack After Hearing President's Report

WASHINGTON — The political skirmishing was on in Congress today with Democrats challenging President Eisenhower on foreign, tax and other major election-year issues.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas signaled the attack, saying the state of the Union and the world is not nearly so rosy as Eisenhower pictured it in his annual message to Congress yesterday.

Johnson said the "political overtones" of the President's message "are the subject of deep disappointment and great regret" to those who have tried to cooperate with the administration in the national interest.

"Most Americans know that the domestic situation is not as rosy as it is pictured and that the international situation is one of deep concern," he declared.

Commenting on Eisenhower's call for payments on the national debt before tax cuts, Johnson said the Republicans had been bragging for months about reducing taxes $7 billion in a period of deficit spending.

***
CHAIRMAN BYRD (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee backed Eisenhower's statement that in a time of prosperity the nation could not afford to go further in debt to cut taxes.

Sen. George D. Aiken (D-Me.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said he wants to see the President's Jan. 16 budget message before discussing tax cuts. What Eisenhower said yesterday offered "nothing new," he said.

Regardless of what finally is done on individual tax relief, quick congressional approval is regarded as likely for Eisenhower's request for another year's extension of existing excise and corporation income tax rates, now due to drop April 1 to pre-Korean War levels.

Several Democrats concerned with the nation's defenses cautioned against too much optimism over Eisenhower's view that "the outlook is bright with promise."

Such misgivings were not shared by Republicans. Many of them concurred with the statement of House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts that Eisenhower's report demonstrated a "clear understanding of the festering danger of Communist intrigue."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he is "not quite as optimistic as he (Eisenhower) is as to the adequacy of our defenses."

Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) stood by his comment of Tuesday that: "I am not happy about our foreign relations as things stand. The general situation in the world is not good."

***
CHAIRMAN CANNON (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee, which scans all defense spending, said:

"The United States is in the greatest danger it has ever been in. I thought the President should have said there could be no tax cut until we have an adequate national defense. We do not have it now. We have the most alarming reports of military progress Russia is making. There is only one country Russia has in view—the United States."

"I wish I could enjoy the optimism of the President in relation to world conditions," said House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts. "It is my opinion that world conditions do not justify such optimism."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) asserted that "only the blindly partisan will challenge the President's conclusions that America's position in world leadership and her economic health were never stronger."

Duel Said 'Nothing'

TOKYO — Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived today from Formosa and said the artillery duels off Formosa between Nationalists and Communists "don't mean anything."

Eisenhower And Benson Hold Conference

New Farmer-Aid Plan Sought

KEY WEST, Fla. — President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson confer here today on a fresh appeal to Congress for "immediate and drastic attention" to the slumping farm income.

Before them was a draft of a special farm message Eisenhower will send to Congress Monday. In his State of the Union message yesterday, the convening President dealt with the crop price decline in general terms.

"Our national farm policy, so vital to the welfare of farm people and all of us, must not become a field for political warfare," he said. "Too much is at stake."

But Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader in the Senate, said the administration had become "frantic about the farm situation" and was rushing out a program to appeal to the voters, particularly those in the Midwest, in this year's elections.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, awaiting Monday's special farm message, promised to attack the problem of falling farm prices on a "non-partisan basis."

But this peace move seemed likely to be restricted and short-lived in view of the attitude of Johnson and other Democrats.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) demanded that Eisenhower "keep the promises" he made to agriculture in 1952.

Rep. Abernethy (D-Miss.) said that any program Benson submits will wear "the gaudy garb of partisan politics."

In a discussion of his State of the Union message, Eisenhower called for "immediate and drastic attention" to the farm problem, which he termed serious. In the message itself, he said: "Our farm people are not sharing as they should in the general prosperity. They alone of all major groups have seen their incomes decline rather than rise."

He said the government's objective must be "to help bring production into balance with existing and new markets, at prices that yield farmers a return for their work in line with what other Americans get."

He urged a many-sided assault to achieve that end, among them "authorization of a soil bank program to alleviate the problem of diverted acres and an overexpanded agricultural plant."

He said he also would urge approval of measures designed to strengthen individual commodity programs, reduce crop carry-overs, and stop further accumulation of surpluses. He said he will call, too, for "substantial" new funds for an expanded drive on the research front, to develop new markets, new crops and new uses.

There was a 50-50 possibility today that U. S. route 62 — from Washington C. H. through Hillsboro to Ripley — might develop into one of the state's major highways as a part of the state's major thoroughfare system that is now in the process of being revamped extensively.

This was revealed by the state Highway Construction Council when it announced its decisions on a dozen proposals for changes.

The net result was subtracting 19.28 miles from the system, which totals in about 6,200 miles of road. Some of the changes were proposed by the public, some by the state highway department.

Public hearings on the proposals were held in October to determine which roads should be part of the major thoroughfare system. Revenue from the state's one-half billion dollars in highway bonds can be used on these roads.

The council reviews its classification of roads every two years. Proposals and actions included:

The highway department and the public had asked adding U. S. 68 or U. S. 62 to the major thoroughfare system from Washington C. H. to Ripley and the addition of either Ohio 74 or Ohio 125 from Cincinnati to either U. S. 68 or U. S. 62.

The council said that if both U. S. 68 and U. S. 62 are joined on a new highway on relocation from Ripley north to a point between Red Oak and Goselick Pike, the new route would be added to the major thoroughfare system. It added "the development of the remainder of either U. S. 68 or U. S. 62 north to Washington C. H. is important to the economic development of this portion of the state and should be considered in future highway planning."

Grace Kelly And Prince Plan To Wed After Easter

PHILADELPHIA — Grace Kelly, the movies' blonde beauty with the patrician manner, will marry Prince Rainier III of Monaco soon after Easter.

She said so at a press reception in her parents' home here late yesterday, several hours after the surprise announcement that the Oscar-winning actress and one of the most eligible bachelors anywhere were engaged.

Hollywood, used to surprises, has seldom been more flabbergasted.

The little Riviera domain of the handsome 32-year-old Arainier made today a full holiday, keeping up a merry pace set by a jubilant people when they heard the first radio bulletin. The radio in Monte Carlo, gambling mecca and showplace of the principality, has talked about little else since.

The prince and his 26-year-old serene highness — to be were toasted in champagne. Flowers were wreathed around their pictures in shop windows. Everyone rejoiced that Rainier at last would take a wife.

If he were to die without heir his principality, which requires its 20,000 population to pay no taxes, would revert to French rule with French tax rates prevailing.

Miss Kelly, in radiant mood, told newsmen who jammed the fabled mansion for the reception that she did indeed plan a family.

Both Miss Kelly and the prince are Roman Catholics. Neither has been married before. What's more, Grace said that she was in love only once before, with a Philadelphia boy now dead. Thus did she dispose of persistent rumors until recently of a romance between her and actor Jean Pierre Aumont.

The press reception in the big, sprawling house of John B. Kelly, millionaire builder and civic leader, was gay and informal.

A reporter asked Kelly: "How do you feel about this? Are you happy about it?"

"Sure," said the father genial. "It's all right. Yes, it's fine."

When the question was put to Miss Kelly whether she planned a large family, she laughed and nodded yes. She was about to elaborate but her mother took it from there, asserting:

"Why, certainly she'll have a large family. I'm a grandmother and I like a lot of grandchildren."

Miss Kelly said the actual wedding date had not been set, and that it is uncertain whether the ceremony will be performed here or in Monaco.

She and the prince are due in New York for tonight's Monte Carlo Ball at the Waldorf Astoria, an annual charity affair. They will be guests of honor.

Miss Kelly said she intends to leave New York by air for Hollywood tomorrow morning. Soon afterward the prince will set out for Florida in his automobile, but he did not specify his exact destination.

Miss Kelly, whose rise to the top in films has been one of Hollywood's outstanding stories of well-deserved success, said she will take a leave of absence after completing her commitments on two pictures, work on the first of which is expected to start Jan. 17.

Does the elegant Grace Kelly, Oscar winner in 1955, mean to retire from the movies after her marriage in April?

"I plan to live in Monaco" was all that she would say.

At the moment she was more interested in showing off her engagement ring of interlocking diamonds and rubies.

If Miss Kelly goes to live in Monaco, someone asked, will she have a title?

The prince obliged brightly: Yes, she'll be known as "Her Serene Highness, Princess of Monaco."

The courtship grew out of the star's meeting with the prince at the Cannes Film Festival last March.

At that time she was entertaining in the palace at Monte Carlo.

"His simplicity completely conquered me," she said.

And what sort of life will it be in Monaco, a 370-acre dot of land on a great splatter of map?

To start with, there's a palace on the Mediterranean, a yacht, four cars and a budget in six figures, even a private zoo. The prince has a palace staff of three women and three men, plus a personal guard of 12 motorcycle-list and four chauffeurs.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Raymond Craig, who grew up in Washington C. H. and entered "the education profession, is the superintendent of the new half-million dollar Liberty Union High School that is to be formally dedicated next Sunday.

It is described as "the most complete high school plant in Fairfield County (Lancaster) school system.... beautiful and most functional."

A description of the new building and plans for the dedication were sent by Supt. Craig to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Craig, 716 Columbus Avenue.

The new school, which adjoins the old building, is to help serve the 700 pupils of the district. The two-story building is 155 feet across the front and extends back 229 feet. It was financed by a $475,000 bond issue, supplemented by a $9,100 federal aid grant. The building adds 36,000 square feet to the school plant.

Space is provided for music rooms, shops for industrial art and agriculture courses and laboratories in addition to classrooms. Lunches have been served in the cafeteria since Sept. 26. New desks have been provided for the classrooms.

Supt. Craig has been head of the Liberty Union School for five years. He started his career as a teacher and then worked into the administrative field. He held one position as superintendent before he took over the helm of the Liberty Union School.

Miss Kelly, in radiant mood, told newsmen who jammed the family mansion for the reception that she did indeed plan a family.

Both Miss Kelly and the prince are Roman Catholics. Neither has been married before. What's more, Grace said that she was in love only once before, with a Philadelphia boy now dead. Thus did she dispose of persistent rumors until recently of a romance between her and actor Jean Pierre Aumont.

The press reception in the big, sprawling house of John B. Kelly, millionaire builder and civic leader, was gay and informal.

A reporter asked Kelly: "How do you feel about this? Are you happy about it?"

"Sure," said the father genially. "It's all right. Yes, it's fine."

When the question was put to Miss Kelly whether she planned a large family, she laughed and nodded yes. She was about to elaborate but her mother took it from there, asserting:

"Why, certainly she'll have a large family. I'm a grandmother and I like a lot of grandchildren."

Miss Kelly said the actual wedding date has not been set, and that it is uncertain whether the ceremony will be performed here or in Monaco.

She and the prince are due in New York for tonight's Monte Carlo Ball at the Waldorf Astoria, an annual charity affair. They will be guests of honor.

Miss Kelly said she intends to leave New York by air for Hollywood tomorrow morning. Soon afterward the prince will set out for Florida in his automobile, but he did not specify his exact destination.

Union Twp. Zoning Plan Set Up

MAKING A POINT at the first official meeting of the Union Township zoning commission - now the board of appeals - Frank Dill (second from left) gestures toward George Pensyl (far right) chairman of the Washington C. H. zoning board of appeals. With the newly set up regulations in effect as of Jan. 1, the township board met Thursday night with Pensyl in an advisory position to polish up phrasing on the zoning regulations. The board, the result of a voters' petition last spring was appointed by the township trustees in the early fall but was not official until the first of the year. They are (left to right, above) Osman King, secretary recently appointed by the board; Frank Weade, Glenn Helstand, chairman Carl Wilt and Pensyl. Unable to attend the meeting was Joe White, the other member.

The first official meeting of the Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals was held Thursday night, with George Pensyl, chairman of the Washington C. H. board of appeals, sitting in as technical advisor.

The board became official — along with zoning — Jan. 1, when regulations by the township trustees went into effect.

The voters of the township approved zoning for the area in the November ballot — the Board of Appeals was set up by the trustees according to state statute.

Starting off with a petition for zoning regulations by a group of citizens last spring, the five-man appeals board was picked as a zoning commission by the trustees to set up a zoning plan and hold public hearings before the November elections.

The group has been working unofficially since then, gleaming advice and ideas from Union Twp. residents and other communities in setting up a zoning code.

Although the phrasing has to be polished a bit, according to Chairman Carl Wilt, regulations are now in effect. Any Union Township resident planning to build anything other than farm buildings must now first get a building permit.

Appeal Board members are unpaid. The one paid agent of the board is Osman King, appointed by the board as secretary. He is the man who will handle the details of issuing permits. His income and expenses of the board will be covered by permit fees, according to Wilt. The secretary's job is part time, aside from his regular work.

The board itself is set up to do just what the name implies, serve as a group the people may appeal to if there is a conflict between a project and the zoning regulations. By state law, any part of the regulations may be appealed to the board.

The word-polishing is being done before the regulations are put in pamphlet form, to be submitted to the trustees and to be available to township residents.

The zoning regulations are set up along the same line as the city zoning code, Wilt said, following the state statutes.

Members on the board of appeals are chairman Carl Wilt, who will serve a five-year term; Glenn Helstand, appointed for four years; Joe White, three years, Frank

Sizable Expansion Made By This City Last Year

The year 1955 was an important one in the history of Washington C. H.

It not only was featured by many things accomplished under the supervision of City Manager James F. Parkinson and authorization of city council, but was also featured by greatest area growth of the city in many a year through annexation.

As result of the business-like handling of its affairs, the city completed the year with $10,332.41 in the general fund, with all bills paid. This was accomplished in the face of steadily mounting operation costs.

The balance is said to be the largest in the general fund in many years and was left after $10,000 was set aside for the new traffic signal installation, which will eventually cost an estimated $25,000.

Another $10,000 was transferred to the sewage revenue fund to pay $4,575 on a nine-year-old debt to the federal government for plans and specifications for a modern sanitary sewer system and disposal plant additions and also for making plans and specifications and meeting other expenses toward the betterment of the sewage disposal system.

THE LARGEST street improvement program carried out in many years was completed.

Heavy blacktop resurfacing was carried out on Circle Avenue, West Elm Street, Oakland Avenue, Oak Street, Ogle Street, Delaware Street, and Olive Street, at a cost of $23,378.40.

In addition to this a great deal of surface treating with hot asphalt and stone chips was done.

A great deal of patching was done and fissures in some of the main streets sealed with hot asphalt, which is now available through use of the new asphalt kettle purchased. Hot mix is also now available from a new plant where it can be obtained daily throughout the winter as well as in the summer.

The resurfacing and surface treating cost around $18,000 to $20,000. Much of the work was made possible by the 1.95 mill levy voted two years ago and still has three years to run.

Some of the new machinery and equipment for caring for the streets etc., was also made possible through the special levy and funds available from special taxes.

Westinghouse Refuses Plan By Mediator

PITTSBURGH (P)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. refused late yesterday to accept a federal mediator's proposal for ending a nationwide strike. It suggested instead a plan pegged to a secret ballot by striking employees on a contract offer already rejected by union chiefs.

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers said in Washington the secret ballot by 44,000 IUE members in 30 plants would be acceptable—if there were a choice between the company offer and union demands.

Federal mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said he wanted Westinghouse to clarify the proposal by putting in writing the specific questions the IUE members would be asked to vote on.

Finnegan had proposed Wednesday that a three-man fact-finding board be appointed to try to agree on a settlement. The IUE accepted the proposal. Westinghouse rejected it yesterday.

Meanwhile, in Columbus, the sheriff's office reported normal picketing at the struck Westinghouse plant today.

Home, World Picture Said Not Very 'Rosy'

Senate Leader Paces Attack After Hearing President's Report

WASHINGTON (P)—The political skirmishing was on in Congress today with Democrats challenging President Eisenhower on foreign, tax and other major election-year issues.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas signaled the attack, saying the state of the Union and the world is not nearly so rosy as Eisenhower pictured it in his annual message to Congress yesterday.

Johnson said the "political overtones" of the President's message "are the subject of deep disappointment and great regret" to those who have tried to cooperate with the administration in the national interest.

"Most Americans know that the domestic situation is not as rosy as it is pictured and that the international situation is one of deep concern," he declared.

Commenting on Eisenhower's call for payments on the national debt before tax cuts, Johnson said the Republicans had been bragging for months about reducing taxes $7 billion in a period of deficit spending.

CHAIRMAN BYRD (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee backed Eisenhower's statement that in a time of prosperity the nation could not afford to go further in debt to cut taxes.

Sen. George D-Ga., a Finance Committee member, reiterated his determination to push for a tax reduction for those in the low and middle income brackets as soon as budget balancing is in sight.

Chairman Cooper (D-Tenn.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said he wants to see the President's Jan. 16 budget message before discussing tax cuts. What Eisenhower said yesterday offered "nothing new," he said.

Regardless of what finally is done on individual tax relief, quick congressional approval is regarded as likely for Eisenhower's request for another year's extension of existing excise and corporation income tax rates, now due to drop April 1 to pre-Korean War levels.

Several Democrats concerned with the nation's defenses cautioned against too much optimism over Eisenhower's view that "the outlook is bright with promise."

Such misgivings were not shared by Republicans. Many of them concurred with the statement of House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts that Eisenhower's report demonstrated a "clear understanding of the festering danger of Communist intrigue."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he is "not quite as optimistic as he (Eisenhower) is as to the adequacy of our defenses."

Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) stood by his comment of Tuesday that: "I am not happy about our foreign relations as things stand. The general situation in the world is not good."

CHAIRMAN CANNON (D - Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee, which scans all defense spending, said:

"The United States is in the greatest danger it has ever been in. I thought the President should have said there could be no tax cut until we have an adequate national defense. We do not have it now. We have the most alarming reports of military progress Russia is making. There is only one country Russia has in view—the United States."

"I wish I could enjoy the optimism of the President in relation to world conditions," said House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts. "It is my opinion that world conditions do not justify such optimism."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) asserted that "only the blindly partisan will challenge the President's conclusions that America's position in world leadership and her economic health were never stronger."

Duel Said 'Nothing'

TOKYO (P)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived today from Formosa and said the artillery duels off Formosa between Nationalists and Communists "don't mean anything."

Poison Smog Continues To Plague London

Dense Fog Said Worse Than In 1952 When 4,000 Lives Claimed

LONDON (AP) — Slight northeast winds broke up Britain's worst smog in three years today, but the weatherman said relief was only temporary.

The forecast was for another choking night of the smoke-laden fog that has gripped southern England for the last 48 hours, halting all air service to and from London.

Into the swirling mists, millions of chimneys funneled soot, sulphur dioxide and other coal-fire byproducts. Scientific teams analyzing the dense black vapor during the night said it was even more poisonous than the great smog of 1952 which claimed 4,000 lives.

A spokesman for the British Oxygen Co. said more emergency calls for oxygen were received yesterday than ever before.

"The number of patients with chest diseases has greatly increased in the hospitals since the smog descended and numerous hospitals have asked for oxygen tanks to meet the emergency," he explained.

POLICE SAID the last 24 hours had been the hospitals' busiest of the winter, and scores of people collapsed on the streets.

There were no official reports yet of smog fatalities. One hospital said it would take weeks to determine what deaths were attributed to the fog.

Regular radio warnings went out to Britons who normally drive to work to leave their cars at home and help minimize the danger of accidents.

Heavy police patrols were out — acting as guides as much as protectors of law and order. One woman was clubbed in an outlying London district by three men who grabbed her handbag, containing $14, and disappeared.

The great darkness was attributed officially to a layer of still, warm air overlying a ground layer of cold, moist air.

For the third straight day, the giant London Air Terminal was deserted with international traffic at a standstill.

Trucking Firm Linked To Big Damage Claim

BALTIMORE, Ohio (AP)—Daniel Motor Freight, Inc., of Warren, Ohio, is one of three defendants named in a $500,000 damage suit stemming from an accident in which five persons were killed when a runaway tractor-trailer struck two cars.

The suit was filed in federal court yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Willa Fearer, 37-year-old widow of Clifford P. Fearer, and her three children. Fearer was one of five killed when the truck ran down Big Savage Mountain at LaVale, west of Cumberland, last Oct. 19.

The suit names Ray Wells, the truck owner, and Paul S. Myer Jr., the truck driver, both of Rt. 3, Dover, Pa., and Daniels Motor Freight, which had leased the truck from Wells.

It contends the tractor-trailer was in "dangerous and defective condition" when Wells leased it to Daniels and that Wells should have known its condition.

of which apparently is still uncertain, both go north from Ripley. Route 62 goes through Washington C. H. and on northeast through Columbus, Canton and Youngstown to enter Pennsylvania at Sharon, from where it goes on to Warren, Pa., and eastward.

Route 68 goes north, also, but Ys off west of route 62 and goes through Wilmington, Xenia, Springfield, and Urbana and to Findlay where it joins U. S. 25, the Dixie Highway, to go to Toledo.

Work already has started on route 62 south of Washington C. H. The bridge over Sugar Creek, between here and Staunton, is being replaced and the road straightened for the approaches.

There have been persistent reports, too, although unconfirmed, that the big curve in the highway in Staunton is to be taken out by pushing a new road through from the north edge of the village, back of the church and on over to the highway south of the town.

The council removed Ohio 14 alternate from the system from U. S. 62 in Salem to U. S. 224 in Deerfield. And it added relocated Ohio 14 from Ohio 14A at Columbiana to U. S. 224 west of Canfield. The changes resulted as the relocation of Ohio 14.

Then it decided to consider adding the sections to the major thoroughfare system only after a specific proposal for a relocated highway is submitted.

The highway department proposed making Ohio 199 a major thoroughfare from Fostoria to U. S. 20, rather than U. S. 23. The council approved adding that section of Ohio 199 and making U. S. 23 from Fostoria to U. S. 20 a secondary road. It also suggested the highway department consider relocating U. S. 23 over Ohio 199 and U. S. 20, as Ohio 199 is a straighter road.

Negro Pupils In Hillsboro Again Shunned By School

HILLSBORO (AP)—Negro children again were turned away from Webster school here today.

Harold Henry, principal, told them there was no change in the situation despite an appellate court ruling in Cincinnati yesterday ordering the immediate end of segregation in Hillsboro.

He reiterated that the children were not assigned to the school and not eligible for admittance.

Between 15 and 20 Negro children appeared at the school, as they have daily.

As usual, when they were turned back they returned to their homes.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sixth circuit, yesterday directed U.S. District Judge John H. Druffel to act immediately to provide for admission to the Hillsboro schools the children who were turned back again today.

His action would be through the issuance of a permanent injunction asked by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and others who have charged that segregation is being practiced in Hillsboro.

JUDGE DRUFFEL called a meeting for next Wednesday with the Hillsboro school board and city tenance fund and $17,100 for other expenses.

Also outside the general fund are dog and kennel appropriations of $3,500; an appropriation of $47,500 (including $45,000 of the general property tax money) to retire bonds on the county hospital; and three appropriations handled through the Welfare Department.

These are for the poor relief fund ($82,207.08 in state and federal funds), aid to dependent children ($40,127.65 in state, federal and county funds — the latter amounting to $9,000) and aid to the needy blind ($21,150, including $523 in county funds).

Appropriations both inside and outside the general fund cover salaries of officers and all other costs, office expenses and all other costs.

solicitor to discuss the situation. He said that if the board accepts the order of the appeals court, that will end the matter.

If the board and its attorney decide against it, Judge Druffel declared, he will defy the directive. He said it would take an order of the U. S. Supreme Court to make him comply.

The judge, in denying the permanent injunction last year, held that there was no intended segregation in Hillsboro. He said a building program was underway and that when it was completed, Negro children would be admitted along with others now enrolled at the grade schools.

Poison Smog Continues To Plague London

Dense Pall Said Worse Than In 1952 When 4,000 Lives Claimed

LONDON (AP)—Slight northeast winds broke up Britain's worst smog in three years today, but the weatherman said relief was only temporary.

The forecast was for another choking night of the smoke-laden pall that has gripped southern England for the last 48 hours, halting all air service to and from London.

Into the swirling mists, millions of chimneys funneled soot, sulphur dioxide and other coal-fire byproducts. Scientific teams analyzing the dense black vapor during the night said it was even more poisonous than the great smog of 1952 which claimed 4,000 lives.

A spokesman for the British Oxygen Co. said more emergency calls for oxygen were received yesterday than ever before.

"The number of patients with chest diseases has greatly increased in the hospitals since the smog descended and numerous hospitals have asked for oxygen tanks to meet the emergency," he explained.

POLICE SAID the last 24 hours had been the hospitals' busiest of the winter, and scores of people collapsed on the streets.

There were no official reports yet of smog fatalities. One hospital said it would take weeks to determine what deaths were attributed to the fog.

Regular radio warnings went out to Britons who normally drive to work to leave their cars at home and help minimize the danger of accidents.

Heavy police patrols were out—acting as guides as much as protectors of law and order. One woman was clubbed in an outlying London district by three men who grabbed her handbag, containing $14, and disappeared.

The great darkness was attributed officially to a layer of still, warm air overlying a ground layer of cold, moist air.

For the third straight day, the giant London Air Terminal was deserted with international traffic at a standstill.

Trucking Firm Linked To Big Damage Claim

BALTIMORE, Ohio (AP)—Daniel's Motor Freight, Inc., of Warren, Ohio, is one of three defendants named in a $500,000 damage suit stemming from an accident in which five persons were killed when a runaway tractor-trailer struck two cars.

The suit was filed in federal court yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Willa Fearer, 37-year-old widow of Clifford P. Fearer, and her three children. Fearer was one of five killed when the truck ran down Big Savage Mountain at LaVale, west of Cumberland, last Oct. 19.

The suit names Ray Wells, the truck owner, and Paul S. Myer Jr., the truck driver, both of Rt. 3, Dover, Pa., and Daniels Motor Freight, which had leased the truck from Wells.

It contends the tractor-trailer was in "dangerous and defective condition" when Wells leased it to Daniels and that Wells should have known its condition.

U. S. Route 62 Plan

of which apparently is still uncertain, both go north from Ripley. Route 62 goes through Washington C. H. and on northeast through Columbus, Canton and Youngstown to enter Pennsylvania at Sharon, from where it goes on to Warren, Pa., and eastward.

Route 68 goes north, also, but is off west of route 62 and goes through Wilmington, Xenia, Springfield, and Urbana and to Findlay where it joins U. S. 25, the Dixie Highway, to go to Toledo.

Work already has started on route 62 south of Washington C. H. The bridge over Sugar Creek, between here and Staunton, is being replaced and the road straightened for the approaches.

There have been persistent reports, too, although unconfirmed, that the big curve in the highway in Staunton is to be taken out by pushing a new road through from the north edge of the village, back of the church and on over to the highway south of the town.

The council removed Ohio 14 alternate from the system from U. S. 62 in Salem to U. S. 224 in Deerfield. And it added relocated Ohio 14 from Ohio 14A at Columbiana to U. S. 224 west of Canfield. The changes resulted as the relocation of Ohio 14.

Then it decided to consider adding the sections to the major thoroughfare system only after a specific proposal for a relocated highway is submitted.

The highway department proposed making Ohio 199 a major thoroughfare from Fostoria to U. S. 20, rather than U. S. 23. The council approved adding that section of Ohio 199 and making U. S. 23 from Fostoria to U. S. 20 a secondary road. It also suggested the highway department consider relocating U. S. 23 over Ohio 199 and U. S. 20, as Ohio 199 is a straighter road.

Negro Pupils In Hillsboro Again Shunned By School

HILLSBORO (AP)—Negro children again were turned away from Webster school here today.

Harold Henry, principal, told them there was no change in the situation despite an appellate court ruling in Cincinnati yesterday ordering the immediate end of segregation in Hillsboro.

He reiterated that the children were not assigned to the school and not eligible for admittance.

Between 15 and 20 Negro children appeared at the school, as they have daily.

As usual, when they were turned back they returned to their homes.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sixth circuit, yesterday directed U.S. District Judge John H. Druffel to act immediately to provide for admission to the Hillsboro schools the children who were turned back again today.

His action would be through the issuance of a permanent injunction asked by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and others who have charged that segregation is being practiced in Hillsboro.

JUDGE DRUFFEL called a meeting for next Wednesday with the Hillsboro school board and city tenance fund and $17,100 for other expenses.

Also outside the general fund are dog and kennel appropriations of $3,500; an appropriation of $47,500 (including $45,000 of the general property tax money) to retire bonds on the county hospital; and three appropriations handled through the Welfare Department.

These are for the poor relief fund ($82,207.08 in state and federal funds), aid to dependant children ($40,127.65 in state, federal and county funds) — the latter amounting to $9,000 and aid to the needy blind ($21,150, including $523 in county funds).

Appropriations both inside and outside the general fund cover salaries of officers and all other costs.

solicitor to discuss the situation. He said that if the board accepts the order of the appeals court, that will end the matter.

If the board and its attorney decide against it, Judge Druffel declared, he will defy the directive. He said it would take an order of the U. S. Supreme Court to make him comply.

The judge, in denying the permanent injunction last year, held that there was no intended segregation in Hillsboro. He said a building program was underway and that when it was completed, Negro children would be admitted along with others now enrolled at the grade schools.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband has many wonderful qualities and, when the chips are down, is an intelligent and loyal spouse. But it seems the chips HAVE to be down before these good qualities are manifest.

Under pressure of trying to be acceptable to all men, Jerry is so suggestible that he betrays his deepest convictions by assent, implication or intimidation. When this involves vulgar language, misrepresentation of our union, endorsing flippancy towards values we hold sacred, etc., I become so upset that I trigger into hostility towards the people involved.

This resentment of mine leaves me open to accusations from Jerry, of being hypersensitive, anti-social, intolerant, not trusting him, etc.; and I must admit he has been given ground to feel all this is true.

Marriage Jeopardized

Are my expectations of marriage too rigid? I feel a couple shouldn't allow any assumptions or persuasions to challenge the values upon which they are mutually agreed that their marriage is based. And that anyone who does so is acting against the best interests of the union, and should be corrected at all costs, but tactfully if possible. While I am confident that Jerry would defend vigorously anything dear to him that is openly challenged, it must be a matter of overt hostility before he grasps what is going on. Towards the more subtle attempts to undermine him and those dear to him, he seems to be completely blind, trusting any pleasant approach as above suspicion.

I find I am becoming increasingly vulnerable and apprehensive about this; and I don't want to lapse into distrust or attempts to dominate. Yet also I find I am unable to dismiss it as a mere human foible to be taken in stride with humorous detachment. To me it is a serious matter with alarming potentials. Would you give me your sane perspective on this?

D. W.

Dear D. W.: As you say, Jerry tries to be all things to all people, which means that he doesn't know what he stands for. He is involuntarily too active, selling his soul in bits and pieces, in trade for a feeling of transient acceptance, to get down to bedrock about what would seem right, from his true viewpoint, if he had one. His chameleon performance, in public and in private, is probably the only consistent theme of his social character. And this plastic accommodation to prevent company signifies an ingrained inferiority complex, which saps him of self-possession and self-respect. He is, compulsively, what is expected of him, per the dominant pressure in a given instance.

In relation to you, for example, he is an echo of you when the chips are down. Privately, as your husband, with no counter influences to the fore, he hopefully aspires to be high-minded, dedicated, etc., about "sacred values," as you believe married partners should be. Thus you infer that basically you and he share the same moral philosophy. But the plain fact is, he is echoing you, not thinking with you.

Man Is Defensive

In a struggle to survive punitive circumstances in early life, Jerry has become the yes-man type. Within himself he is unconsciously flooded with self-contempt, no doubt. He feels gutless and emasculated in the background of his awareness. And to overcompensate for his sense that he isn't his own man, that he isn't a force in his own right, he tends to become assertively, coarsely "sexy" in mixed company, probably.

By this behavior, he rallies about himself others on the same wave length; and in that situation you feel alienated, betrayed and affronted, it seems. The unconscious aim of his endeavor is to correct, at once and decisively, certain ideas he fears others may get, that he isn't a "real man"; that he is a prude or a sissy, etc.

Thus his chameleon behavior, which you construe to be a problem in itself, is really a symptom of neurotic self rejection in Jerry. To correct the trouble at its source, and secure your marriage on a good foundation, he should have psychiatric help.

M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH

(City School Superintendent)

That our present generation is receiving more education than their parents is shown in a survey recently completed by Hugh Rea, principal of Rose Avenue School.

Mr. Rea conducted a survey comparing the education of the present school generation with that of their parents by finding the highest grade that their parents attended.

With the large percentage of the boys and girls of the present day graduating from high school and many going on to college, the survey shows that the current generation certainly has more educational advantages than their parents ever enjoyed.

Studying 300 parents, Mr. Rea's figures show that 14 percent have a formal education of less than the eighth grade; 27 percent did not return to school after completing the eighth grade, which means that 41 percent have no higher than an eighth grade education.

Seventy-six percent of the 300 did not graduate from high school, and two percent ever enrolled in a college.

Mr. Rea's study reveals that a much greater percentage of the school population today is gaining far more education than their parents.

He further concludes that, because of the greater holding power of the schools and the resultant increase in education, there will be much greater competition for jobs in the future.

His advice to students currently in school is to stay there as long as possible and to take advantage of every opportunity offered. Each additional grade completed places him in a better position to compete with others for the jobs in the future.

Students To Give Program Sunday

Students from the Cincinnati Bible Seminary will give a special church program at 7:30 P. M. Sunday at the First Christian Church here.

Highlight of the program will be an account of the mission work being done at the Winton Terrace Church of Christ in Cincinnati. Among the students who helped found the church are two who are members of the First Christian Church here, Miss Janice East and Miss Mary Jane Pollard.

In charge of the devotions will be Miss East and Miss Pollard. Charles Childress, student preacher at the Winton Terrace Church, will give the sermon and serve as one of the members of the quartet. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Reynolds and Miss Harriet Frame will be the other members of the quartet.

Purpose of the program is to illustrate Christian education at work in a large city.

Fewer Arrests Here Last Year

Drunken Drivers Increased, However

There were 77 fewer arrests in Washington C. H. last year than the year before, a check of the records revealed.

A total of 1478 arrests were made in the city last year, according to a statistical report just compiled by Police Chief Vaiden Long.

Of this total, 1,423 were made under city ordinances and 50 under the state law.

In 1954 the total number of arrests reached 1,565, Chief Long said.

Eighty-four persons were arrested for driving while drunk, compared with 40 the previous year, the figures disclose.

These figures do not include arrests made by the state Highway Patrol and sheriff's office.

The number of plain drunks arrested reached 161, and 95 persons were taken into custody on disorderly conduct charges.

Moving traffic violations totaled 905.

The number of $1 traffic fines paid reached $1,828.

During the year police investigated 371 accidents of various kind, compared with 390 in 1954.

Twenty-four bicycles were stolen and 22 recovered, the record discloses.

One of the surprising features of the report is that 85 doors and windows of business firms were found unlocked, and reported to the owners of the buildings.

Eight automobiles were stolen and eight recovered.

Escort services were furnished for scores of funerals and service rendered at funeral homes.

In addition to this, innumerable small complaints were investigated and a great deal of other work done which is not on record.

The belief that a fright for the mother during pregnancy can cause mental deficiency in a child is usually regarded as false by most experts.

Rev. Francis J. Moore To Conduct Service

Rev. Francis J. Moore of Cincinnati, editor of Forward Movement, an Episcopal Church publication, is to conduct the regular services at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here Sunday morning, starting at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Moore is taking over the pulpit next Sunday, the first since Rev. John Carson left this parish to become rector of the church in Hillsboro. Rev. Sanford Lindsey, who preceded Rev. Carson as the minister of St. Andrew's Church, is now minister of the parish at London.

Although St. Andrew's Church is temporarily without a rector, regular church services are to be held on schedule under the direction of a lay reader until another minister is brought into the parish. Robert Lisk, a member of St. Andrew's Church, is a qualified lay reader and is expected to conduct some of the services here.

What church officials have emphasized is that services will be held at St. Andrew's Church here on the regular weekly schedule, either by a lay reader or an ordained priest.

The Forward Movement was founded in 1935 with Rev. Gilbert P. Symons as the editor. Since his retirement, said a St. Andrew's Church vestryman, Rev. Moore "has, with great wisdom and ability, carried the Movement on to increasing value and influence. It has become an institution, but even more a powerful spiritual force. It has brought inspiration, knowledge and strength to many millions throughout the World. The public is invited to join the congregation in welcoming and worshipping with Rev. Moore Sunday morning."

Since 1900 the percentage of older people—over 65 years of age—has doubled in the United States, says the U. S. Census Bureau.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband has many wonderful qualities and, when the chips are down, is an intelligent and loyal spouse. But it seems the chips HAVE to be down before these good qualities are manifest.

Under pressure of trying to be acceptable to all men, Jerry is so suggestible that he betrays his deepest convictions by assent, implication or intimidation. When this involves vulgar language, misrepresentation of our union, endorsing flippancy towards values we hold sacred, etc., I become so upset that I trigger into hostility towards the people involved.

This resentment of mine leaves me open to accusations from Jerry, of being hypersensitive, anti-social, intolerant, not trusting him, etc.; and I must admit he has been given ground to feel all this is true.

Marriage Jeopardized

Are my expectations of marriage too rigid? I feel a couple shouldn't allow any assumptions or persuasions to challenge the values upon which they are mutually agreed that their marriage is based. And that anyone who does so is acting against the best interests of the union, and should be corrected at all costs, but tactfully if possible.

While I am confident that Jerry would defend vigorously anything dear to him that is openly challenged, it must be a matter of overt hostility before he grasps what is going on. Towards the more subtle attempts to undermine him and those dear to him, he seems to be completely blind, trusting any pleasant approach as above suspicion.

I find I am becoming increasingly vulnerable and apprehensive about this; and I don't want to lapse into distrust or attempts to dominate. Yet also I find I am unable to dismiss it as a mere human foible to be taken in stride with humor and detachment. To me it is a serious matter with alarming potentials. Would you give me your sane perspective on this?

D. W.

Dear D. W.: As you say, Jerry tries to be all things to all people, which means that he doesn't know what he stands for. He is involuntarily too active, selling his soul in bits and pieces, in trade for a feeling of transient acceptance, to get down to bedrock about what would seem right, from his true viewpoint, if he had one.

His chameleon performance, in public and in private, is probably the only consistent theme of his social character. And this plastic accommodation to present company signifies an ingrained inferiority complex, which saps him of self-possession and self-respect. He is, compulsively, what is expected of him, per the dominant pressure in a given instance.

In relation to you, for example, he is an echo of you when the chips are down. Privately, as your husband, with no counter influences to the fore, he hopefully aspires to be high-minded, dedicated, etc., about "sacred values," as you believe married partners should be. Thus you infer that basically you and he share the same moral philosophy. But the plain fact is, he is echoing you, not thinking with you.

Man Is Defensive

In a struggle to survive punitive circumstances in early life, Jerry has become the yes-man type. Within himself he is unconsciously flooded with self-contempt, no doubt. He feels gutless and emasculated in the background of his awareness. And to overcompensate for his sense that he isn't his own man, that he isn't a force in his own right, he tends to become assertively, coarsely "sexy" in mixed company, probably.

By this behavior, he rallies

about himself others on the same wave length; and in that situation you feel alienated, betrayed and affronted, it seems. The unconscious aim of his endeavor is to correct, at once and decisively, certain ideas he fears others may get, that he isn't a "real man"; that he is a prude or a sissy, etc.

Thus his chameleon behavior, which you construe to be a problem in itself, is really a symptom of neurotic self rejection in Jerry. To correct the trouble at its source, and secure your marriage on a good foundation, he should have psychiatric help.

M. H.

Mary Hawthorth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

Why Are American Boys Reported Soft?

Is the average American boy becoming too soft?

An officer risen to be commandant of the U. S. Air Force Academy is not a man to make broad and unwelcome statements lightly. Brig. Gen. Robert M. Stillman says the average young man entering the new military school in Colorado is physically soft. He declared the other day:

"We are getting young men who cannot do one chin-up, who cannot do four or five sit-ups."

It is not encouraging to hear of General Stillman's appealing to the boys in a high school audience to spend less time looking at television and more time in athletics. European boys, he said, are "three times as strong" as American boys.

Is TV to blame? Do the public schools

fail to have intramural athletics that get every boy (and girl) doing something vigorous that is fun?

There are problems involving school buses that pick up youngsters at 3 or 3:30 and taken them home. Yet most schools have gymnasium classes or can manage in some way to develop strong and self-reliant players of games.

What is disquieting about the General's remarks is that a military set-up for the U. S. defense fails to get enough strong, well-integrated young men. Aren't the boys endowed with both muscles and brains studying hard enough? Of those who are academy material, why don't more aim at West Point, Annapolis or Colorado Springs as their goals?

Is the blame to be put on the schools, the parents, or where?

How To Leap In Leap Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The war between the sexes always reaches a crisis during Leap Year.

The old saying that "Love will find a way" doesn't hold true this year. There are only 17 million possible husbands available for 20 million possible wives.

In this mathematical dilemma neither Congress nor television can dream up a giveaway program that will award every maid what she wants—a real live mate.

It's a time when every smart girl becomes her own kangaroo, and leaps "that fastest with the mostest." But in seeking a husband she must beware her tactics don't boomerang.

The only real rule of the matrimonial chase is "catch as catch can." But as some overanxious ladies have already learned to their regret, some lures work better with the wild male beast than others. And some don't work at all.

What is the best way? There is no one best way. It depends on the prey.

As I see it, the market divides itself roughly into four general classes: (1) elderly childless widowers; (2) middle-aged widowers with children; (3) professional bachelors; and (4) amateur bachelors.

Let us consider them in turn.

It is a well known fact that elderly widowers tend to turn their hearts to widows. Any girl interested in reaping one of these gaffers, therefore, should first become a widow herself. There are several techniques in how this can be done, but each woman is on her own and in this problem will get no help from me. I'm a married man myself.

To win a middle-aged widower with offspring you must do two things. First, write the U. S. Children's Bureau for a pamphlet on how to get along with children. Apply this knowledge to his kids. Give them a firm kindness and love. Once they want to have you around, he'll have to have you around. The second thing you have to do is to handle him. Treat him kindly, so that he'll feel like one of the children, too. But also hawl him out occasionally—so that he won't get too lonesome for his first wife.

The professional bachelor is a tougher nut to crack. He is full of bad habits, wary of women, thinks he knows what he wants out of life and is sure it isn't marriage.

To try to reform a pro bachelor is to become his victim. The right approach is to encourage him in his bad habits until he breaks down with an ulcer or a heart attack, then he is wide open for marriage. Wifehood in this case, of course, generally is also nursehood.

There is no set, sure way to win the fourth type—the amateur bachelor. You have to improvise with young fellows today. They get more difficult every year.

But here are a few general tips that should stand up:

If he catches a common cold, try to avoid coming down with pneumonia yourself. A man is afraid of a woman who can always outdo him.

If he invites you up to a home-cooked meal in his apartment, don't complain about how he burned the canned spaghetti. Remember, after you're married, you can bring in a good well-cooked spaghetti from the nearest delicatessen.

Cry once on his shoulder during a sentimental movie, but only once. Every man likes to know his wife has a soft heart, but no man ever married Niagara Falls.

Remember, you're not fooling with one guy out of a million. He's one out of 17 million—and there are 19,999,999 other single American ladies who might be looking for a chance to snare him.

Policy On National Security

Now that the era of smiles has gently passed away and the cold war has been restored in all its fierceness and vulgarity, the question of security will arise afresh, because one of the enemy's methods in this cold war is to weaken us by propaganda and infiltration. There are agencies of government which have to do with security and which therefore stand in the way of those who believe that war is worse than the universalism which the Kremlin seeks to establish.

Charles P. Curtis made the point in a "Saturday Review" article: "...To begin with, the people who are administering our security system have not had the benefit of being watched." This is a smart, sharp way of saying something that is not true. If it is the FBI to which he refers, then, of course, that agency is watched by Congress, which is the only Constitutional body to watch it. Annually, the FBI makes its report and comes up for appropriations. In addition, the FBI is subordinate to the Department of Justice which scrutinizes its conduct. In addition, FBI matters are constantly before the courts which have an opportunity to look into its processes.

The assumption that it is possible for a police agency to open its files to every Tom, Dick and Harry is fallacious because then no police agency could exist and we might as well settle down to anarchy. It is no secret that at the recently organized commission on government security, some members expressed themselves on the subject of security and the FBI which definitely gave the impression to other members that what the new commission might be designed to discover is not whether we are going about our security correctly but whether we ought not to kill off any program of security. It is also no secret that the House committee on un-American activities has become soft on security out of resentment over J. Edgar Hoover's testimony concerning Harry Dexter White.

From this standpoint, it is all right for the FBI or a Congressional committee to investigate a misguided actor of writer or scientist but it becomes a major crime when the investigation leads to an accused spy like Harry Dexter White, who also happened to be a high official in a Democratic administration. There can be no logical, realistic program of security so long as Sam Rayburn's decision is that politics comes first and that the House committee on un-American activities must not employ counsel who may not be interested in party politics.

If the objection is to the passport office, then a program ought to be devised and passed by Congress stipulating by law who is entitled to a passport and who is not. At the present time, the passport office is governed by a regulation set up by Dean Acheson when he was Secretary of State. The validity of this regulation has been disputed by Judge Luther Youngdahl. So far as one can judge, from my point of view, the Acheson regulation is an excellent guide to follow. Apparently the present counsel of the State Department, Herman Phleger, does not think so because he does not risk taking his cases up to the Supreme Court for decision. If the present situation continues, it will be necessary for Congress to pass an act defining the passport and setting up rules on issuance. It is likely that Congress will follow the Acheson regulation.

If it is objected that the Department of Defense is awkward in its attitude toward security, it must be countered that no military establishment can afford knowingly to admit spies into its ranks, particularly in matters involving military secrecy. It is unwise to leave discretion in such matters to the military whose training is to cut men down on the smallest suspicion of espionage. Guilt by such a yardstick of kinship is intolerable in a free society, but doubts must be investigated and those who are not conscious of their responsibility to flag and country ought not to wear the uniform.

Congress ought more closely to define espionage in the cold war, so that officials act under the law and not by whim. The next session of Congress might well pass these laws which would then become campaign issues upon which the people could swiftly decide. The cold war poses problems for which existing laws provide no answer.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

You can get more than money from a bank. It all depends, of course, on which bank you go to.

Artery banks, for example — most medical centers now have them — might be of more value to you than a financial institution.

A stored artery in one of these banks may prevent the loss of a leg. That is something you can't measure in dollars and cents.

Damaged Artery

Surgery to replace a damaged artery, either with a human blood vessel or one made from plastic, orlon, nylon, dacron or other synthetic materials, has passed the experimental stage.

Until recently, advanced gangrene resulting from a clot in a major artery blocking the blood supply to the leg, meant amputation. It is not so today. Although amputation still will be necessary in many cases, artery grafting might aid many others.

Before amputation of a leg, artery grafting should at least be considered.

Writing in a recent issue of Modern Concepts of Cardiovascular Disease, Dr. Robert S. Shaw

Artery Banks Aid In Many Cases Now

reports grafting also is frequently effective in correcting arterial defects known as "aneurysms."

An aneurysm is formed when a section of an artery wall, weakened by disease, balloons out. Now this not only interferes with circulation, it might also burst. And that might be fatal.

Blood Vessel Banks

The American Heart Association is helping to facilitate these artery operations for those of you who need them by preparing recommendations for establishment and maintenance of blood vessel banks.

The Association says there should be uniform standards in procurement and storage of both artificial and natural blood vessels for grafts.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's fourth State of the Union message to Congress reflects more than the temper of the times.

It was a calm, restrained message at a time when on the surface the world is calm. While the war with communism continues unabated, it is being fought without guns right now. There were no firecrackers in the message.

Three years of responsibility for running the government and leading the anti-Communist world, judging from the message, have had a sobering effect on the Eisenhower administration.

This message was quite different from the one Eisenhower delivered to Congress in 1953, just after he had taken office and returned from his dramatic post-election trip to Korea, where the war was still on.

In that message, his first, Eisenhower announced he was withdrawing the 7th Fleet from its protective role around Formosa. This was the famous "unleashing" of Chiang Kai-shek.

It was a piece of theatricalism which Eisenhower has probably regretted. Chiang couldn't have hit the mainland Red Chinese without big American help.

He never got the help. Instead, he's been bottled up to keep him from starting a war which he couldn't finish and which would involve the United States on the mainland.

If Eisenhower hoped to scare the Red Chinese by "unleashing" Chiang, they did not show it. But he startled, if he didn't scare, American allies who could foresee themselves involved on the mainland too.

The Eisenhower administration, through Secretary of State Dulles, gave the Allies some bad hours later also. That was by his talk of "massive retaliation" which was never inflicted even when North Indochina fell.

There were no theatricalisms in Eisenhower's message this year. The Allies have shown the most confidence in American leadership when it stays calm. Eisenhower spoke calmly of Soviet intentions and the need to stay armed.

The Democrats did to this message what they have done to some of Eisenhower's other messages: they mocked it as being simply an extension of the New Deal and "Fair Deal."

But they know, as Eisenhower does, no party could hope to keep office if it sought to eliminate, or failed to extend to some degree, the basic social programs of the past 20 years. And this is an election year.

All the domestic parts of Eisenhower's message prove is that the Democrats and Republicans are close together. The Democrats themselves are offering only some extensions of their old program. They haven't offered anything startling either.

Turnpike Planners Abandon Toledo Spur On N-S Project

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission today decided to concentrate on trying to build Ohio's second turnpike without the spur to Toledo.

The commission recommended to the state highway director that consulting engineers complete plans that would slice up to $200 million from the project as originally contemplated.

The original construction cost had been estimated at $516 million. That would include toll roads from Cincinnati to Conneaut with a branch running from near Delaware to the Toledo area.

The entire cost, including financing charges, would have brought the original project to about $600 million.

Under the plans unanimously recommended by the commission, portions of existing state highways in the Columbus-Springfield area would be beefed up to turnpike specifications and become free portions of a turnpike.

"THE CHANGES in design of the turnpike would not lower its standards of service and safety," the commission's chairman, James W. Shocknessy, wrote Highway Director Samuel O. Linzell.

The consulting engineering firms of Coverdale & Colpitts and the J. E. Greiner Co., submitted plans and figures for a 400-mile toll road. The commission decided it would not be practical to build the road to those specifications and looked into ways to pare costs.

There have been several meetings of state highway department officials, turnpike staff and commission members and the consulting engineers.

Linzell is an ex-officio member of the commission. He recommended, and the commission accepted, "as fact" that the Toledo area would be served sufficiently by a number of state highway improvements now underway or being contemplated in connection with the Cincinnati to Dayton part of the toll road.

Auto Industry Sets Records

DETROIT (AP)—A combination of official and unofficial figures show the auto industry built approximately 7,950,000 passenger cars in 1955 and that General Motors, Ford and Chrysler produced more than 7,592,000 of them.

Figures as announced by the industry's "Big Three" show General Motors plants in the United States turned out 3,989,987; Ford 2,240,661 and Chrysler 1,361,835. These were record-smashing totals in each instance.

2 Cincy Units Get Polio Grants

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati and the Children's Hospital Research Foundation has received a $200,797 grant from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The grant will be used for continued research toward a live virus vaccine, under direction of Dr. Albert B. Sabin, professor of research pediatrics.

Why Are American Boys Reported Soft?

Is the average American boy becoming too soft?

An officer risen to be commandant of the U. S. Air Force Academy is not a man to make broad and unwelcome statements lightly. Brig. Gen. Robert M. Stillman says the average young man entering the new military school in Colorado is physically soft. He declared the other day:

"We are getting young men who cannot do one chin-up, who cannot do four or five sit-ups."

It is not encouraging to hear of General Stillman's appealing to the boys in a high school audience to spend less time looking at television and more time in athletics. European boys, he said, are "three times as strong" as American boys.

Is TV to blame? Do the public schools

fail to have intramural athletics that get every boy (and girl) doing something vigorous that is fun?

There are problems involving school buses that pick up youngsters at 3 or 3:30 and taken them home. Yet most schools have gymnasium classes or can manage in some way to develop strong and self-reliant players of games.

What is disquieting about the General's remarks is that a military set-up for the U. S. defense fails to get enough strong, well-integrated young men. Aren't the boys endowed with both muscles and brains studying hard enough? Of those who are academy material, why don't more aim at West Point, Annapolis or Colorado Springs as their goals?

Is the blame to be put on the schools, the parents, or where?

How To Leap In Leap Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The war between the sexes always reaches a crisis during Leap Year.

The old saying that "Love will find a way" doesn't hold true this year. There are only 17 million possible husbands available for 20 million possible wives.

In this mathematical dilemma neither Congress nor television can dream up a giveaway program that will award every maid what she wants—a real live mate.

It's a time when every smart girl becomes her own kangaroo, and leaps "thar fastest with the mostest." But in seeking a husband she must beware her tactics don't boomerang.

The only real rule of the matrimonial chase is "catch as catch can." But as some overanxious ladies have already learned to their regret, some lures work better with the wild male beast than others. And some don't work at all.

What is the best way? There is no one best way. It depends on the prey.

As I see it, the market divides itself roughly into four general classes: (1) elderly childless widowers; (2) middle-aged widowers with children; (3) professional bachelors; and (4) amateur bachelors.

Let us consider them in turn.

It is a well known fact that elderly widowers tend to turn their hearts to widows. Any girl interested in reaping one of these gaffers, therefore, should first become a widow herself. There are several techniques in how this can be done, but each woman is on her own and in this problem will get no help from me, I'm a married man myself.

To win a middle-aged widower with offspring you must do two things. First, write the U. S. Children's Bureau for a pamphlet on how to get along with children. Apply this knowledge to his kids. Give them a firm kindness and love. Once they want to have you around, he'll have to have you around. The second thing you have to do is to handle him. Treat him kindly, so that he'll feel like one of the children, too. But also bawl him out occasionally—so that he won't get too lonesome for his first wife.

The professional bachelor is a tougher nut to crack. He is full of bad habits, wary of women, thinks he knows what he wants out of life and is sure it isn't marriage.

To try to reform a pro bachelor is to become his victim. The right approach is to encourage him in his bad habits until he breaks down with an ulcer or a heart attack, then he is wide open for marriage. Wifehood in this case, of course, generally is also nursehood.

There is no set, sure way to win the fourth type—the amateur bachelor. You have to improvise with young fellows today. They get more difficult every year.

But here are a few general tips that should stand up:

If he catches a common cold, try to avoid coming down with pneumonia yourself. A man is afraid of a woman who can always outdo him.

If he invites you up to a home-cooked meal in his apartment, don't complain about how he burned the canned spaghetti. Remember, after you're married, you can bring in a good well-cooked spaghetti from the nearest delicatessen.

Cry once on his shoulder during a sentimental movie, but only once. Every man likes to know his wife has a soft heart, but no man ever married Niagara Falls.

Remember, you're not fooling with one guy out of a million. He's one out of 17 million—and there are 19,999,999 other single American ladies who might be looking for a chance to snare him.

Policy On National Security

Now that the era of smiles has gently passed away and the cold war has been restored in all its fierceness and vulgarity, the question of security will arise afresh, because one of the enemy's methods in this cold war is to weaken us by propaganda and infiltration. There are agencies of government which have to do with security and which therefore stand in the way of those who believe that war is worse than the universalism which the Kremlin seeks to establish.

Charles P. Curtis made the point in a "Saturday Review" article: "...To begin with .... the people who are administering our security system have not had the benefit of being watched. ... This is a smart, sharp way of saying something that is not true. If it is the FBI to which he refers, then, of course, that agency is watched by Congress, which is the only Constitutional body to watch it. Annually, the FBI makes its report and comes up for appropriations. In addition, the FBI is subordinate to the Department of Justice which scrutinizes its conduct. In addition, FBI matters are constantly before the courts which have an opportunity to look into its processes.

a Democratic administration. There can be no logical, realistic program of security so long as Sam Rayburn's decision is that politics comes first and that the House committee on un-American activities must not employ counsel who may not be interested in party politics.

If the objection is to the passport office, then a program ought to be devised and passed by Congress stipulating by law who is entitled to a passport and who is not. The assumption that it is possible for a police agency to open its files to every Tom, Dick and Harry is fallacious because then no police agency could exist and we might as well settle down to anarchy. It is no secret that at the recently organized commission on government security, some members expressed themselves on the subject of security and the FBI which definitely gave the impression to other members that what the new commission might be designed to discover is not whether we are going about our security correctly but whether we ought not to kill off any program of security. But they know, as Eisenhower does, no party could hope to keep office if it sought to eliminate, or failed to extend to some degree, the basic social programs of the past 20 years. And this is an election year.

All the domestic parts of Eisenhower's message prove is that the Democrats and Republicans are close together. The Democrats themselves are offering only some extensions of their old program. They haven't offered anything startling either.

Turnpike Planners Abandon Toledo Spur On N-S Project

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission today decided to concentrate on trying to build Ohio's second turnpike without the spur to Toledo.

The commission recommended to the state highway director that consulting engineers complete plans that would slice up to $200 million from the project as originally contemplated.

The original construction cost had been estimated at $516 million. That would include toll roads from Cincinnati to Conneaut with a branch running from near Delaware to the Toledo area.

The entire cost, including financing charges, would have brought the original project to about $600 million.

Under the plans unanimously recommended by the commission, portions of existing state highways in the Columbus-Springfield area would be beefed up to turnpike specifications and become free portions of a turnpike.

"THE CHANGES in design of the turnpike would not lower its standards of service and safety," the commission's chairman, James W. Shocknessy, wrote Highway Director Samuel O. Linzell.

The consulting engineering firms of Coverdale & Colpitts and the J. E. Greiner Co., submitted plans and figures for a 400-mile toll road. The commission decided it would not be practical to build the road to those specifications and looked into ways to pare costs.

There have been several meetings of state highway department officials, turnpike staff and commission members and the consulting engineers.

Linzell is an ex-officio member of the commission. He recommended and the commission accepted "as fact" that the Toledo area would be served sufficiently by a number of state highway improvements now underway or being contemplated in connection with the Cincinnati to Dayton part of the toll road.

Auto Industry Sets Records

DETROIT (AP)—A combination of official and unofficial figures show the auto industry built approximately 7,950,000 passenger cars in 1955 and that General Motors, Ford and Chrysler produced more than 7,592,000 of them.

Figures as announced by the industry's "Big Three" show General Motors plants in the United States turned out 3,989,987; Ford 2,240,661 and Chrysler 1,361,835. These were record-smashing totals in each instance.

2 Cincy Units Get Polio Grants

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati and the Children's Hospital Research Foundation has received a $200,797 grant from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The grant will be used for continued research toward a live virus vaccine, under direction of Dr. Albert B. Sabin, professor of research pediatrics.

Mrs. Townsend Is Hostess To CCL Members

Members of Gamma Circle of Child Conservation League were entertained at the lovely new home of Mrs. Harry Townsend for the first meeting of the new year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. James Kelley, who presented Mrs. Frank Karney as a new member.

Roll call was responded to by twenty-three members who told their "pet peevs" and the usual reports followed.

The devotions were led by Mrs. Donald Early, and it was decided to have a dance for the husbands, February 2, in the American Legion Hall, with Mrs. Ted Yoakum as chairman of arrangements.

Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, program chairman, presented Judge John P. Case, who gave a most inspirational and educational talk on "Your Will and Your Child," which was followed by a panel discussion during which Judge Case answered many questions asked by the members.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and tempting refreshments were served by the hostess and her assisting hostesses, Mrs. Robert Parish and Mrs. Jack White.

CCL Members Hold Meeting At Wilson School

Mrs. Max Wilson was hostess to twenty members of Beta Circle Child Conservation League for the regular January meeting.

Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Jr., president, welcomed the members, who responded to roll call with "Did you get the gift?"

Mrs. Ray Warner, secretary, gave her report as did the treasurer, Mrs. Alfred Lininger, both of which were approved.

A communication from the state president, Mrs. Gretchen Westenberg, was read by Mrs. Davis, and a report of the philanthropic committee was given by Mrs. Harold Minshall.

The business session was closed with prayer by the group and Mrs. Hilbert Meyer, program chairman, introduced as the guest speaker, Mrs. Jan Geisenhof, executive secretary of the Tuberculosis Society.

Mrs. Geisenhof illustrated her talk on tuberculosis, with pictures in the different phases, which included "What It Is and What to Do About It" and the story of the Christmas Seal, which she said is only 52 years old and originated in Denmark, with Einar Holboell, as the founder.

Mrs. Geisenhof also told the members that 3,600 persons had free chest X-rays in Fayette county recently as a means to detect and combat this dreaded disease.

Plans for the February meeting at the home of Mrs. Dean Powell were made when a white elephant sale and a guest speaker, Mrs. John Trace, will be the highlights.

During the social hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Eugene Alkire, and Mrs. William Melvin.

Dinner Precedes Regular Meeting Of CCL Members

The January meeting of Alpha Circle Child Conservation League was held at the home of Mrs. Merrill Lynch and was highlighted with dinner which climaxed a traveling basket contest, when the losers entertained the winners.

The dinner was served at small tables each centered with an infant wearing only a diaper which carried out a theme of "New Year's Babies".

Preceding the dinner, Mrs. Thurman Coulter gave the invocation and following a delightful dinner hour, a business session was presided over by Mrs. George Naylor, president.

Roll call was responded to by twenty-five members who gave New Year's resolutions.

Mrs. Sheldon Grubb, secretary and Mrs. Frank Lentz, treasurer, gave their reports and Mrs. Charles Hurr introduced Mrs. John Williams, who was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Thurman Coulter reported on food and clothing provided for worthy families at Christmas, and several members volunteered to help with the Easter Seal campaign.

An invitation was accepted from Delta Kappa Gamma to be guests at a meeting in October when Mrs. May Hill Arbutnot, a professor at Western Reserve and an authority on children's literature will be the speaker.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a round of games conducted by Mrs. Kenneth Kelley, Mrs. Sheldon Grubb, Mrs. Frank Reno and Mrs. Richard Waters.

Mrs. Wendell Whiteside was captain of the losers who furnished the dinner and Mrs. William Clark captained the winning side.

Hostesses for the month, Mrs. Merrill Lynch, Mrs. William Fletcher, Mrs. Frank Lentz and Mrs. George Naylor served a tempting dessert course during the dinner hour.

December 17 Wedding Takes Place In Athens

Mrs. Richard Eugene Shoemaker

The soft light from candles against a background of greenery and arrangements of white gladioli enhanced the First Presbyterian Church of Athens for the wedding, December 17th of Miss Rieta Faye Sagar and Richard Eugene Shoemaker.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Sagar, 986 Jefferson Street, Greenfield, and Mr. Milton M. Sagar, of Roswell, New Mexico. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Forest L. Shoemaker, of Athens.

Rev. Chester Marquis, Jr., performed the double ring ceremony at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon.

Preceding the service a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Richard Gardner, vocal soloist, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Philip Woodworth, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Chantilly lace bridal gown featuring a basque bodice, long sleeves tapering over the wrists and a Queen Ann collar. The extremely bouffant skirt had a scalloped border and terminated in a full cathedral train which tapered to a point. Her tiered finger-tip veil of illusion cascaded from a Queen Anne double tiara of pearls. She carried a white Eastern Star Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Marilyn Smith, of Coshocton, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Gerry Beach, of Lowell, and Miss Jeanne Rider, of Bowling Green. Phi Mu Sorority sisters of the bride.

They wore Christmas red velvet length dresses. The long torsos were enhanced by bracelet length sleeves and bateau necklines. Full circular skirts swirled from the hipline. They wore circular veils over, velvetene bandeaus and carried red velvetene muffs with clusters of white roses and holly leaves.

Lowell Cole, of Nelsonville, was best man and ushers were Richard Gardner, of Mansfield, Richard McConkey, of Dayton, and Michael Swyers, of Athens.

The bride's mother wore a gown of dusty rose lace over satin with silver accessories and a dark orchid. Mrs. Shoemaker wore a blue gray satin gown with winter white accessories and a light orchid.

Poinsettia plants, an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and a four tiered wedding cake were featured table decorations for the reception which followed at the Phi Mu Sorority House.

For their wedding trip to Florida and Nassau, the bride changed to a winter white faille dress with matching coat, lined with turquoise, with turquoise accessories and her

The worship period closed with the singing of a hymn and prayer by the leader.

The short business session consisted of the usual reports and a report of the serving of dinner to the Lion's Club in December.

The program was also in charge of Miss Taylor, and she continued with the same subject used in the devotions, reading a chapter from the Study Book.

The meeting was closed with the WSCS benediction and a social hour followed during which Mrs. Waits was assisted by Mrs. O. C. Kibler, Mrs. Charles Goldsberry and Mrs. Jesse Linton in the serving of tempting refreshments.

praying of the Lord's Prayer led by the president.

Churches Urged Boost Education

CINCINNATI (AP) — The president of the United Lutheran Church in America feels that while there has been an upsurge of religious feeling in this country, it has not been matched by an upsurge of religious education.

Dr. Franklin Fry made the statement yesterday in warning against "religious illiteracy" in this country.

The Lutheran leader said the "default here at home" can be solved by insistence by parents of an intensified program of religious education and greater skill on the part of the church in teaching.

New Optimism By Dulles Said Not Surprising

Degree Of Russian
Success In 1955
Remains Unclear

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles expressed confidence over the weekend the West will make better than the Russians in world affairs in 1956. This wasn't surprising.

A secretary of state can hardly be blamed for optimism about his own policies, particularly in an election year. But if he has anything more than hope—if he has any evidence for it—Dulles didn't disclose it.

After outlining the number of American military alliances in 1955, Dulles said: "Thus, the free world has done much to consolidate its position and deter open aggression."

He added: "Now the Soviet rulers turn to other devices. We can be confident that these, too, will fail and that 1956 will further extend the influence of the free world."

He didn't explain what he meant by the Soviet's "other devices." Perhaps he meant their anti-Western propaganda tour through Asia and the economic help they offered there and in the Middle East.

But when he said these devices "too, will fail," he wasn't being clear at all. Because it isn't clear where the Russians failed in 1955.

At the end of the year they seemed to be doing all right. At least they claimed they were, after the big welcome the Asians gave Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

Western diplomats seemed concerned about the Russians' trip. And the Eisenhower administration certainly made haste to urge that American foreign aid be continued.

Actually, the Russians' success in Asia—if it was a success—may have been grossly exaggerated. Any success of the trip will have to be proved by later developments. The trip itself was not enough.

Dulles, in his brief statement made in New York, did not go into all the phases of American foreign policy aimed at stopping Russian progress in the world.

But it may be significant that what he did choose to talk about was American military alliances.

He has a natural pride in them. In helping build them he became the most traveled secretary of state in American history.

The alliances no doubt have discouraged the Communists from hasty aggressions. And now Dulles may find more time to spend at home thinking in terms far wider than military alliances.

The Russians, by their trips and their tactics, made it plain enough American military pacts can't bottle up their efforts to convert and take over the world.

The United States could become so complacent about the military wall it has built to hem in the Russians, that it might wind up like the pre-war French who dreamed of safety behind the Maginot Line.

The alliances no doubt have discouraged the Communists from hasty aggressions. And now Dulles may find more time to spend at home thinking in terms far wider than military alliances.

State Lands And Buildings Inventory Being Prepared

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Finance Director John Wilcoxon told the State Capital Planning and Improvements Board yesterday he is preparing the first inventory of state lands and buildings.

He reported at a session of the board, created by the last Legislature, under a program to keep capital improvements planning at least six years ahead of construction.

Wilcoxon said he would need at least two additional staff members for the work. He now has only an engineer working on the inventory.

The board adopted a set of regulations under which state departments and agencies will submit their programs.

They call for site and building drawings, proposed use, estimated costs, available federal, state and local financing, and operation estimates.

N. B. Griffin of Portsmouth, a retired architect and member of the board, said state universities face a pressing problem to provide accommodations for the expected influx of students in coming years.

No Duel Of Honor Said Necessary

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—A court of honor has decided Chief of State Luis Batlle Berres doesn't have to fight a duel with publisher Washington Guadalupe because of an editorial the president's paper wrote about the publisher.

Guadalupe's El Nacional accused the president of protecting private interests and serving as a financial editor for the editor of Batlle Berres' paper, Accion. Accion replied that the critics must be "low-minded" with "dirty souls." Guadalupe challenged.

Dueling is legal in Uruguay only after a court rules there is no other way of settling the fuss.

Party Held for Kids Of Children's Home

All 38 youngsters at the Children's Home were guests of Jack Sherick, proprietor of the Sherick School of Dancing here, at a party at the Country Club Thursday evening.

Highlights of the evening for the kids were a shower of gifts and a chicken dinner served home-style.

For each of the boys, Sherick had a reversible jacket, a baseball and bat and a pair of engineer boots. Each girl was given a musical powder box, a pair of slippers and a pocketbook.

The affair is the second one Sherick has held for the boys and girls at the Home. The last was a year ago, and Sherick said he hopes to make it an annual event.

New Optimism By Dulles Said Not Surprising

Degree Of Russian
Success In 1955
Remains Unclear

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles expressed confidence over the weekend the West will make better hay than the Russians in world affairs in 1956. This wasn't surprising.

A secretary of state can hardly be blamed for optimism about his own policies, particularly in an election year. But if he has anything more than hope—if he has any evidence for it—Dulles didn't disclose it.

After outlining the number of American military alliances in 1955, Dulles said: "Thus, the free world has done much to consolidate its position and deter open aggression."

He added: "Now the Soviet rulers turn to other devices. We can be confident that these, too, will fail and that 1956 will further extend the influence of the free world."

He didn't explain what he meant by the Soviet's "other devices." Perhaps he meant their anti-Western propaganda tour through Asia and the economic help they offered there and in the Middle East.

But when he said these devices "too, will fail," he wasn't being clear at all. Because it isn't clear where the Russians failed in 1955.

At the end of the year they seemed to be doing all right. At least they claimed they were, after the big welcome the Asians gave Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

Western diplomats seemed concerned about the Russians' trip. And the Eisenhower administration certainly made haste to urge that American foreign aid be continued.

Actually, the Russians' success in Asia—if it was a success—may have been grossly exaggerated. Any success of the trip will have to be proved by later developments. The trip itself was not enough.

Dulles, in his brief statement made in New York, did not go into all the phases of American foreign policy aimed at stopping Russian progress in the world.

But it may be significant that what he did choose to talk about was American military alliances. He has a natural pride in them. In helping build them he became the most traveled secretary of state in American history.

The alliances no doubt have discouraged the Communists from hasty aggressions. And now Dulles may find more time to spend at home thinking in terms far wider than military alliances.

The Russians, by their trips and their tactics, made it plain enough American military pacts can't bottle up their efforts to convert and take over the world.

The United States could become so complacent about the military wall it has built to hem in the Russians, that it might wind up like the pre-war French who dreamed of safety behind the Maginot Line.

Ike Omits 18-Year Vote Law Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower omitted from his State of the Union Message today one of the major requests he made two years ago—that voting rights be given to 18 year olds.

On suffrage questions, the President simply asked, as he and previous Presidents have for years, that residents of the District of Columbia be allowed to vote.

Congress has shown no disposition to give the vote to either 18 year olds or Washington residents.

State Lands And Buildings Inventory Being Prepared

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Finance Director John Wilcoxon told the State Capital Planning and Improvements Board yesterday he is preparing the first inventory of state lands and buildings.

He reported at a session of the board, created by the last Legislature, under a program to keep capital improvements planning at least six years ahead of construction.

Wilcoxon said he would need at least two additional staff members for the work. He now has only an engineer working on the inventory.

The board adopted a set of regulations under which state departments and agencies will submit their programs.

They call for site and building drawings, proposed use, estimated costs, available federal, state and local financing, and operation estimates.

N. B. Griffin of Portsmouth, a retired architect and member of the board, said state universities face a pressing problem to provide accommodations for the expected influx of students in coming years.

Wilcoxon expressed belief that some standardization could be adopted for construction at state institutions. But he expressed doubt that standardization could be accomplished at the six state universities because of varying agricultural styles.

He added that alumni, for sentimental reasons, often object to razing old buildings to make way for new structures.

The board will consider construction recommendations envisioned under the 150 million dollar construction bond issue approved by voters last November.

Board members expect to meet again tomorrow after a conference of legislative leaders with Gov. Frank J. Lausche to discuss proposals expected to be considered at the Jan. 16 special session of the Legislature.

The special session, required under approval of the bond issue, will decide on the amount of bonds to be issued and the need for approval of an additional cigarette tax to retire the bonds.

Good Times Spread Fast Around Globe

Ike's New 10-Year Plan To Help Areas Find Prosperity, Too

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Good times are spreading fast around the globe. Business news from other lands shine out today as President Eisenhower reports to Congress on the state of the nation and asks for a 10-year plan of foreign aid.

The stated aim of the long-term program is to allow forward military planning and to keep economic aid flowing to such corners of the globe as haven't yet climbed securely on the prosperity band wagon.

Many American taxpayers have been asking year after year since the war, "When will foreign aid ever end?"

And now they may be a little confused by the conflicting reports: Washington's word that more rather than less is still needed, and reports from Western Europe and Japan of good times in full swing, with governments there, as here, worried about the chances of the boom getting out of hand.

If the two reports are to be reconciled, the answer may be in the field of world politics. Our foreign aid program was once aimed at helping a war-stricken world back on its feet. Now that much of it is not only on its feet but striding ahead at a faster pace than before the war, our foreign aid is apparently aimed at keeping prosperity high enough to discourage Communist inroads and making the defense systems of the Western world increasingly stronger. Both militarily and economically.

Leaving the pros and cons of our foreign aid proposals to Washington, let's look at the reports of prosperity overseas:

Sizing up the whole picture, the United Nations reports that the dollar value of world trade in 1954 (the latest period for which figures are complete) was three times what it was in 1937. Reports from individual countries indicate a sizable gain in 1955, and expectations of even more in 1956.

In most of Western Europe the output of mines and factories is now well above prewar levels.

More striking, perhaps, is the upgrading in European standards of living. Automobile ownership is spreading to classes that never dreamed of driving one before. The same movement is shown in the purchase of electrical home appliances by householders who formerly considered these within the reach only of the rich.

This trend has been helped along greatly by the adoption in Europe for the first time of that old American custom: Taking an appliance home today and paying for it for many months to come.

All of this hasn't been an un-mixed blessing. Along with the glowing reports of full employment, expanding markets among Europeans themselves, increased output of factories and mines, growing export markets comes other news. Many of the governments in Europe, as well as Australia and to some extent Canada and South America, have the troubles that go with "excess prosperity."

Fat pay checks mean competition for consumer goods—those shiny cars and appliances that many Europeans never could buy before. Prices go up, and so do demands for higher wages. Inflation becomes a real problem.

Also, Europeans, Australians, South Americans, all would like more of the shiny American gadgets that they can get dollars to pay for. And "the dollar gap" between what they sell us and what they get from us continues—and is plugged largely by U. S. foreign aid.

While in other corners of the world—the so-called under-devel-

MRS. HENRY FORD II is named among the world's best-dressed women on the 1956 list of the New York Dress Institute. More than 1,000 fashion experts and other authorities took part in the style poll. (International) oped—the cry for more American dollars to develop resources and build industries goes on without let-up.

Price of Pork Is Up Slightly

Old Food Standbys Back In Markets

(By The Associated Press)
Things are getting back to normal this week in the nation's food stores; the old standbys, beef, pork and lamb, once again head the list of specials at the meat counters.

While beef prices generally remain unchanged, one major chain is offering pot roast and boneless chuck at four to six cents a pound below last week's prices.

Some other meats are heading higher. One chain has upped prices of loin pork chops 4 cents a pound in Boston, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and 10 cents a pound in Philadelphia. Frying chickens also will cost from 2 to 10 cents a pound more than last week over much of the country. Eggs, too, are generally higher.

The Department of Agriculture calls beef "one of the leading foods on the list of plentiful for January." It says that beef production in 1955 reached a record 13,600,000 pounds, and the average use of beef attained a new high of about 81 pounds per person.

In the vegetable market, potatoes edged up a bit during the past week, but produce men still regard them as outstanding buys.

Actress Finds Begging Profitable

DALLAS (AP)—Bea Shaw, glamorous television actress of WFAA-TV, Dallas, used makeup and expert costuming to transform herself into a greying, penniless woman.

Then she got a metal pan and began begging on a busy downtown corner. A hidden TV camera, watched while Miss Shaw tried to determine whether men or women are more responsive to a woman beggar.

Eleven men and two women contributed $2 which Miss Shaw turned over to charity. "Two dollars every 20 minutes would be $48 for an eight-hour day," Miss Shaw said. "I think begging might pay better than television!"

Ohio Veterinarians Check Knowledge Of Animal Lore

COLUMBUS (AP)—Is a bat blind in the daytime?

Which bird lays the larger egg—the ostrich, eagle or swan?

How can you tell the difference between a crocodile and alligator? You can read these questions and others in Columbus restaurants today. The Ohio State Veterinary Medical Assn. distributed 500 quiz cards at the city's eating spots to test the average person's knowledge of animals.

The answers:
A bat has limited day vision.
An ostrich lays the larger egg.
A crocodile's head is triangular in contrast to the broad-snouted alligator.

1955 City Program

also were carried out during the year, including street cleaning, leaf removal, etc.

FOR THE FIRST time since the sewage disposal plant was built, the intercepting sewers were cleaned and some repairs made. This cost was $4,560 and left the interceptors functioning near their full capacity after years of being badly clogged with refuse and sediment.

Proper adjustment of long neglected weirs regulating the flow of storm water into the interceptors was made and the functioning of the interceptors greatly improved. An additional sludge bed increased the sludge drying capacity of the disposal plant more than one third.

A new modern street sweeper costing $9,310 was purchased. A new street grader also was purchased at $4,238 and put in use as needed.

A new fire truck chassis and chassis and body costing around $6,500 were purchased. About $5,000 saved on the truck if it had been purchased outright from a factory.

The city also purchased for $2,500 a tract of ground on North Fayette Street, immediately south of the B&O Railroad and then bought a new Armo pre-fabricated steel building which, with the foundation work, will cost around $4,000.

A second police cruiser was added to the police equipment, to provide more prompt and efficient police protection.

One of the last purchases made was an alcometer for testing drunk drivers and others, and the cost was $932.

A NEW WATER reservoir, pumping station, water softening and filtration plant are being put in by the Ohio Water Service Co., under a contract approved by council which authorizes a rate increase of around 35 percent to cover the cost of the project.

A number of additions to sewers in various parts of the city have been made with a minimum cost to the city and property owners. Several additions of territory to the city have been approved by council during the year.

The new additions has increased the area of the city materially, and provided lots for more than 250 new homes.

These additions included:
Belle Aire sub-division No. 3, south of Elm Street, with 60 lots;
The Armbrust Perdue Plaza, of 23 lots, on Highland Avenue;
Jess Gilmore's Oak Circle of several lots, off Oak Drive.

The Brownell Subdivision west of Ely Street, with 12 lots and Willabar Village addition of 43 lots, south of Leesburg Avenue and west of the Country Club golf course.

The Willis subdivision, north of Millwood and extending north along the east side of the Dayton Road, with 81 lots.

There has been a great amount of building in the city also. Dozens of new homes have been erected during the year and improvements made to many others.

Legislators Agree Help Needed In Some Labor Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to help labor surplus areas share in the nation's prosperity was urged yesterday by four senators and a union representative.

Appearing before a Senate Labor subcommittee, which is considering a federal aid bill to reduce unemployment, were Sens. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), Kilgore (D-W.Va.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Mrs. William Matheson of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., district director of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a member of the subcommittee, expressed his views in statement.

Mrs. Smith, the lead-off witness, said she has conferred with the White House regarding the overall problem of depressed labor areas and "am gratified that an administration bill will be offered early in this session with perhaps a presidential message sent to Congress as early as Friday."

Kilgore said "the problem of depressed areas, which is national in scope, must be attacked on a national basis."

Kefauver declared that "an aggressive effort must be made not only to eliminate existing economic distress, but, more important to prevent the emergence of new areas of unemployment."

Kennedy urged that legislation include a return to the bid-matching program, under which depressed area firms bidding on government contracts were given a chance to obtain contracts by matching the lowest bids submitted from other areas. This program was eliminated in 1953.

Mrs. Matheson said the great need in the hard coal area of northeastern Pennsylvania is jobs for men. There now is a reversal of condition, she said, wherein the wife is able to find work in the garment industry but the husband is suffering from enforced idleness and does the housework.

She especially approved of provision in a Douglas bill that would provide for vocational retraining.

Reps. Lane (D-Mass.) and Flood (D-Pa.) also testified and endorsed the Douglas bill. The committee then recessed its hearing until Friday.

Algiers, capital of Algeria, is less than two hours flying time from Marseilles, France.

New York Times Fires Shot At Senate Red Probe Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee called another employee of the New York Times today while disputing that newspaper's contention it has been singled out in the group's current search for subversion.

The only witness named in advance of today's session was Otto Albertson. Subcommittee aides declined to say what his job is.

"It seems quite obvious," the Times said in an editorial in today's editions, "that the Eastland investigation has been aimed with particular emphasis at the New York Times."

"The New York Times denies when no one has accused it," replied Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), the subcommittee chairman. "The New York Times is not under investigation."

The newspaper said it seemed obvious it had been made a target because of its condemnation of "such things as school segregation and McCarthyism and all its works" which it declared Eastland and two associates stand for.

The subcommittee resumed yesterday public hearings in a series which has centered on the press, radio and television.

EASTLAND HAS maintained that the inquiry is not aimed at newspapers, nor at any particular newspaper, but rather at seeking out communism wherever it can be found.

Three of yesterday's seven witnesses were employees of the Times. Three others were former Times employees. The seventh was a movie theater operator.

The Times cited "the heavy concentration of subpoenas served on employees of this newspaper" in declaring that it had been singled out in the investigation. It said:

"So far as we are aware, no present member of the Communist party has been found among the more than 4,000 employees on our rolls."

"We would not knowingly employ a Communist party member in the news or editorial departments of this paper, because we would not trust his ability to report the news objectively or to comment on it honestly."

Noting that a few of its employees have acknowledged party membership in years gone by, the Times said it will judge each case on its merits, and it added: "It is our own business to decide whom we shall employ and not employ."

Good Times Spread Fast Around Globe

Ike's New 10-Year Plan To Help Areas Find Prosperity, Too

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Good times are spreading fast around the globe. Business news from other lands shine out today as President Eisenhower reports to Congress on the state of the nation and asks for a 10-year plan of foreign aid.

The stated aim of the long-term program is to allow forward military planning and to keep economic aid flowing to such corners of the globe as haven't yet climbed securely on the prosperity band wagon.

Many American taxpayers have been asking year after year since the war, "When will foreign aid ever end?"

And now they may be a little confused by the conflicting reports: Washington's word that more rather than less is still needed, and reports from Western Europe and Japan of good times in full swing, with governments there, as here, worried about the chances of the boom getting out of hand.

If the two reports are to be reconciled, the answer may be in the field of world politics. Our foreign aid program was once aimed at helping a war-stricken world back on its feet. Now that much of it is not only on its feet but striding ahead at a faster pace than before the war, our foreign aid is apparently aimed at keeping prosperity high enough to discourage Communist inroads and making the defense systems of the Western world increasingly stronger. Both militarily and economically.

Leaving the pros and cons of our foreign aid proposals to Washington, let's look at the reports of prosperity overseas:

Sizing up the whole picture, the United Nations reports that the dollar value of world trade in 1954 (the latest period for which figures are complete) was three times what it was in 1937. Reports from individual countries indicate a sizable gain in 1955, and expectations of even more in 1956.

In most of Western Europe the output of mines and factories is now well above prewar levels.

More striking, perhaps, is the upgrading in European standards of living. Automobile ownership is spreading to classes that never dreamed of driving one before. The same movement is shown in the purchase of electrical home appliances by householders who formerly considered these within the reach only of the rich.

This trend has been helped along greatly by the adoption in Europe for the first time of that old American custom: Taking an appliance home today and paying for it for many months to come.

All of this hasn't been an un-mixed blessing. Along with the glowing reports of full employment, expanding markets among Europeans themselves, increased output of factories and mines, growing export markets comes other news. Many of the governments in Europe, as well as Australia and to some extent Canada and South America, have the troubles that go with "excess prosperity."

Fat pay checks mean competition for consumer goods—those shiny cars and appliances that many Europeans never could buy before. Prices go up, and so do demands for higher wages. Inflation becomes a real problem.

Also, Europeans, Australians, South Americans, all would like more of the shiny American gadgets that they can get dollars to pay for. And "the dollar gap" between what they sell us and what they get from us continues—and is plugged largely by U. S. foreign aid.

While in other corners of the world—the so-called under-devel-

MRS. HENRY FORD II is named among the world's best-dressed women on the 1956 list of the New York Dress Institute. More than 1,000 fashion experts and other authorities took part in the style poll. (International) oped—the cry for more American dollars to develop resources and build industries goes on without let-up.

Price of Pork Is Up Slightly

Old Food Standbys Back In Markets

(By The Associated Press)
Things are getting back to normal this week in the nation's food stores; the old standbys, beef, pork and lamb, once again head the list of specials at the meat counters.

While beef prices generally remain unchanged, one major chain is offering pot roast and boneless chuck at four to six cents a pound below last week's prices.

Some other meats are heading higher. One chain has upped prices of loin pork chops 4 cents a pound in Boston, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and 10 cents a pound in Philadelphia. Frying chickens also will cost from 2 to 10 cents a pound more than last week over much of the country. Eggs, too, are generally higher.

The Department of Agriculture calls beef "one of the leading foods on the list of plentiful for January." It says that beef production in 1955 reached a record 13,600,000 pounds, and the average use of beef attained a new high of about 81 pounds per person.

In the vegetable market, potatoes edged up a bit during the past week, but produce men still regard them as outstanding buys.

Actress Finds Begging Profitable

DALLAS (AP)—Bea Shaw, glamorous television actress of WFAA-TV, Dallas, used makeup and expert costuming to transform herself into a greying, penniless woman.

Then she got a metal pan and began begging on a busy downtown corner. A hidden TV camera, watched while Miss Shaw tried to determine whether men or women are more responsive to a woman beggar.

Eleven men and two women contributed $2 which Miss Shaw turned over to charity.

"Two dollars every 20 minutes would be $48 for an eight-hour day," Miss Shaw said. "I think begging might pay better than television!"

Ohio Veterinarians Check Knowledge Of Animal Lore

COLUMBUS (AP)—Is a bat blind in the daytime?

Which bird lays the larger egg—the ostrich, eagle or swan?

How can you tell the difference between a crocodile and alligator?

You can read these questions and others in Columbus restaurants today. The Ohio State Veterinary Medical Assn. distributed 500 quiz cards at the city's eating spots to test the average person's knowledge of animals.

The answers:
A bat has limited day vision.
An ostrich lays the larger egg.
A crocodile's head is triangular in contrast to the broad-snouted alligator.

1955 City Program

also were carried out during the year, including street cleaning, leaf removal, etc.

FOR THE FIRST time since the sewage disposal plant was built, the intercepting sewers were cleaned and some repairs made. This cost was $4,560 and left the interceptors functioning near their full capacity after years of being badly clogged with refuse and sediment.

Proper adjustment of long neglected weirs regulating the flow of storm water into the interceptors was made and the functioning of the interceptors greatly improved. An additional sludge bed increased the sludge drying capacity of the disposal plant more than one third.

A new modern street sweeper costing $9,310 was purchased. A new street grader also was purchased at $4,258 and put in use as needed.

A new fire truck chassis and chassis and body costing around $6,500 were purchased. About $5,000 saved on the truck if it had been purchased outright from a factory.

The city also purchased for $2,500 a tract of ground on North Fayette Street, immediately south of the B&O Railroad and then bought a new Armo pre-fabricated steel building which, with the foundation work, will cost around $4,000.

A second police cruiser was added to the police equipment, to provide more prompt and efficient police protection.

One of the last purchases made was an alcometer for testing drunk drivers and others, and the cost was $932.

A NEW WATER reservoir, pumping station, water softening and filtration plant are being put in by the Ohio Water Service Co., under a contract approved by council which authorizes a rate increase of around 35 percent to cover the cost of the project.

A number of additions to sewers in various parts of the city have been made with a minimum cost to the city and property owners.

Several additions of territory to the city have been approved by council during the year.

The new additions has increased the area of the city materially, and provided lots for more than 250 new homes.

These additions included:
Belle Aire sub-division No. 3, south of Elm Street, with 60 lots;
The Armbrust Perdue Plaza, of 23 lots, on Highland Avenue;
Jess Gilmore's Oak Circle of several lots, off Oak Drive.

The Brownell Subdivision west of Ely Street, with 12 lots and Willabar Village addition of 43 lots, south of Leesburg Avenue and west of the Country Club golf course.

The Willis subdivision, north of Millwood and extending north along the east side of the Dayton Road, with 81 lots.

'Horse' Ameche Wins Berth On All-Pro Team

Baltimore Star Is Lone Rookie To Gain Honor '11'

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan (The Horse) Ameche, bull-driving full-back of the Baltimore Colts, was the only rookie named to the Associated Press 1955 all-pro team which included three members each from the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles western division titleholders.

Ameche, the league's ball carrying champion, received 26 of the 40 votes cast in the annual balloting by Associated Press member paper football writers and AP staff men. The former University of Wisconsin powerhouse earned the nomination by rolling up 961 yards in his first season.

Although they finished a half game behind the Rams for divisional honors, the Chicago Bears placed four players on the 2-man two platoon squad. They included end Harlon Hill, guard Stan Jones and tackle Bill Wightkin on the offensive eleven and middle guard Bill George on the defensive team. Pittsburgh was the only team not represented on either squad.

Otto Graham, who came out of retirement to lead the Browns to their second straight championship, won the quarterback post in a romp, getting 28 votes to eight for Green Bay's Tobin Rote. It was the sixth time on the all-pro team for the 33-year-old former Northwestern great.

Other Browns voted on the AP "dream team" were offensive tackle Le Roy Groza and Frank Gargano.

Rams named were guard Duane Putnam on the attacking unit, end Andy Robustelli and halfback Wildard Sherman on the defensive group.

Here's how the offensive eleven shapes up:

In the line are ends Pete Pihos of Philadelphia and Hill, guards Putnam and Jones, tackles Groza and Wightkin and center Gatski. The backfield consists of Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals, Frank Gifford of the New York Giants, Ameche and Graham.

The defensive team consists of ends Gene Brito of Washington and Robustelli, tackles Art Donovan of Baltimore and Bob Tonnoff of San Francisco, middle guard George Linebackers Joe Schmidt of Detroit and Roger Zatkoff of Green Bay, backs Bob Dillon of Green Bay and Sherman and safeties Jack Christiansen of Detroit and Emilen Tunnell of the Giants.

Graham was one of the eight repeaters from the 1954 team. The others were Pihos, Groza, Matson, Donovan, Schmidt, Dillon and Christiansen.

School Clerk Quits

SALEM (AP)—George F. Koutz has resigned after 22 years as clerk of the Salem Board of Education because the board failed to raise his salary as requested.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Spec. 3-c Darwin E. Leeth
Though he attended Wilmington College before entering the Army in June, 1954, Leeth had never played football before the past season. Apparently he caught on fast, because he was selected for the All-Star team of the Ryukyus Command on Okinawa. The news was in a letter just received by his mother, Mrs. Olive L. Leeth of the Green Road, near South Solon. Leeth, 22, attended Sedalia Midway High School - which had no football team at the time.

Lion Cubs Beaten For First Time

The Greenfield Tiger Cubs squeaked past the WHS Lion Cubs to score a 30-27 win on the McClain court Thursday evening.

The defeat was the first the WHS boys had suffered in their regularly scheduled season. The Cubs lost one practice game against a team of high school freshmen during the Christmas vacation, but before Thursday, they had beaten every junior high team they had played.

Top scorer for the WHS juniors was Ronnie Carter, who poured in 13 points before fouling out early in the final period. Others contributing to the Lion Cub cause were Lynch (6 points), Scott (4), Campbell (2) and Huff (2).

Also in the game for Washington C. H. were Lee, Crooks, Self, Sheppard and Wright.

The boys were driven to Greenfield by Coach Fred Domenico and several of the boys' parents.

Greenberg, Cronin May Gain Laurels

NEW YORK (AP)—It's voting time again for baseball's Hall of Fame and it may be that Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin this year will make the coveted list.

Last year, Greenberg and Cronin ranked 5th and 6th in the voting by 10-year members of the baseball writers' assn. Greenberg was 32 votes shy of the required 180. Cronin was named on 135.

The deadline for voting this year is Jan. 23.

Jap Lion Tamer Seriously Hurt

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Lion tamer Mitsuo Ando stumbled today and an 8-year-old lion leaped on him from behind. Attendants twisted the lion's tail and held him off with poles while they dragged Ando from the caged ring amid the screams of 600 spectators. Ando was seriously injured from a bite on the neck and clawmarks on the back of his head.

Hogan Defeat Labeled Big Upset Of '55

CHICAGO (AP)—The mythical year the Yankees lost the pennant had nothing on 1955 when it came to surprising sports experts. Last year was the year Ben Hogan, Notre Dame, the Yankees and the Bears all were beaten.

Those four events were the upsets singled out by 179 sports writers in the Associated Press year-end poll with Jack Fleck's triumph over Hogan in the playoff for the National Open golf championship getting the nod as the "upset of the year."

Fleck was a "dark horse" in the open if there ever was one. A 32-year-old operator of courses at Davenport, Iowa, Jack never had finished higher than eighth in a major tournament.

He shot a spectacular birdie on the 72nd hole to tie Hogan. Fleck the next day beat Hogan by three strokes in the 18-hole playoff.

Fleck's victory was picked as the "upset of the year" by 41 of the writers and Southern California's football victory over Notre Dame by 37.

Notre Dame had won eight out of nine games going into that final contest of the season. Southern California had lost four. But the Trojan won by a decisive 42-20.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' triumph over the Yankees, after losing the first two games, took third place in the upset balloting. Then came the Chicago Cardinals 54-14 shellacking of the Bears, a setback that cost the Bears a chance for the National Football League's western division title.

Dayton's Flyers Chalk Win As Big Bill Uhl Comes Alive

(By The Associated Press)
Dayton's third-ranked Flyers have themselves a 10-game winning streak at the moment, but more important, seven-foot Bill Uhl has shed his sleeping giant role and matured into a full-fledged Goliath in college basketball.

Time was when the big fellow wasn't much more use than a five-foot guy standing on a step ladder. He had height but couldn't move.

But Thursday night Big Bill moved with relative ease as the unbeaten Flyers ran away from Duquesne 68-52. Uhl had 23 points, all but three from the field, and grabbed 24 rebounds.

All was not butter and honey among the top-ranked teams Thursday night. Maryland, playing possession ball, upset seventh-ranked George Washington 66-44. And lightly regarded Spring Hill of Mobile, Ala., tumbled previously undefeated and 12th-ranked Memphis State 69-65 with a fantastic closing drive in the title game of the Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile.

George Washington, which hadn't been choked off with less than 50 points since 1950, couldn't get the ball away from Maryland. The Terps just played catch and dared the Colonials, who had averaged 82 points a game in building a 9-1 record.

Memphis State seemed headed for an 11-0 record, leading 63-48 with 7 minutes left in its bid for a second straight Senior Bowl crown. But then Spring Hill went off on a tear, striking for 21 points while State got just a field goal.

State attempted a freeze with a 2-point lead and less than 3 minutes left, but Spring Hill twice stole the ball and Ed Tibbels pumped in the clincher from under the basket with 40 seconds remaining. Gene McGuire, who scored the tying points, was high with 27.

Elsewhere, Vince Yockel scored 30 points as Clemson defeated Miami (Fla.) 98-96 in the Senior Bowl consolation game. Western Kentucky wiped out a 3-point deficit and Ohio Xavier's unbeaten record 73-72 with Montrose Holland sinking two free throws for the clincher with less than 2 minutes left to edge the Ohioans. And tall, talented St. Louis breezed past Loyola of New Orleans 110-79.

Tulane, led by Cal Grosscup—making his first appearance after transferring from Purdue —smacked Georgia 72-56 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Parseghian Say He's Not Superstitious

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Ara Parseghian, Northwestern's new head football coach, has this winning formula:

Get as many good players as possible to enroll at Northwestern; teach them the split-T and spin-T offenses; keep being superstitious.

At 32, he is the youngest grid boss in the Big Ten. He comes from Miami of Ohio, a school that has spawned such big timers as Woody Hayes, Sid Gilman and Stu Holcomb. Northwestern's new athletic director.

Parseghian doesn't like to be called superstitious.

"I'm not really," he said in an interview. "Well, what if I have worn the same brown suit and tie every football Saturday? The boys threw me bodily in a shower once and I thought the suit would be wrecked. But it came out all right."

"I've got it pressed and hung in a plastic bag right now."

"This brown one is getting pretty threadbare in spots. Maybe I'll send it to Miami and have the school retire it."

Parseghian is sure that wearing the garment helped him compile a 39-6-1 record in five seasons at the Ohio school.

He also refused to have his picture printed in the school's football brochure after 1951, his first as coach when Miami won only five of its nine games.

The picture was dropped out in 1952, and his teams began winning. But he says he's not superstitious.

Quick Chief, a colt owned by John Froelich of Brookville, N. Y., won 13 of 20 harness races in 1955 and earned $95,397.

Brown's Team Favorite In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Coaches Buddy Parker of the North and Paul Brown of the South today decided which of their players will have the job of moving the ball in tomorrow's Senior Bowl game. The South is a slight favorite.

The coaches also named tough defenses with the accent on weight.

Parker, coach of the pro Detroit Lions, said he will alternate Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and Iowa's Jerry Reichow at quarterback. Each accounted for more than 1,000 yards this season in the BT Ten, principally on passes.

The South also has fine tossers in Bob Hardy of Kentucky and George Herring of Mississippi Southern. Hardy will probably do most of the signal calling.

Brown, coach of the pro champion Cleveland Browns, named four running backs. Alternating at left half will be Don McIlheny of SMU and Bob James of Auburn.

Ed Verbe of Maryland will run out of the other halfback slot, and Auburn's Joe Childress will be the fullback.

For the North, Lou Baldaacci of Michigan and Bob Moss of West Virginia will be called on for the wide plays. Fullback Bill Murakowski of Purdue was picked for the power bursts.

The kickoff is 2:30 p. m. EST. Mutual Broadcasting System will broadcast the game. There will be no television.

'Horse' Ameche Wins Berth On All-Pro Team

Baltimore Star Is Lone Rookie To Gain Rating On Annual Honor '11'

NEW YORK (P) — Alan (The Horse) Ameche, bull-driving full-back of the Baltimore Colts, was the only rookie named to the Associated Press 1955 all-pro team which included three members each from the National Football League, Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles western division titleholders.

Ameche, the league's ball carrying champion, received 26 of the 40 votes cast in the annual balloting by Associated Press member paper football writers and AP staff men. The former University of Wisconsin powerhouse earned the nomination by rolling up 961 yards in his first season.

Although they finished a half game behind the Rams for division honors, the Chicago Bears placed four players on the 2-man two platoon squad. They included end Harlon Hill, guard Stan Jones and tackle Bill Wightkin on the offensive eleven and middle guard Bill George on the defensive team. Pittsburgh was the only team not represented on either squad.

Otto Graham, who came out of retirement to lead the Browns to their second straight championship, won the quarterback post in a romp, getting 28 votes to eight for Green Bay's Tobin Rote. It was the sixth time in the all-pro team for the 33-year-old former Northwestern great.

Other Browns voted on the AP "dream team" were offensive tackle Lou Groza and Frank Gatski.

Rams named were guard Duane Putnam on the attacking unit, end Andy Robustelli and halfback Willard Sherman on the defensive group.

Here's how the offensive eleven shapes up:

In the line are ends Pete Pihos of Philadelphia and Hill, guards Putnam and Jones, tackles Gatski and Wightkin and center Gatski. The backfield consists of Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals, Frank Gifford of the New York Giants, Ameche and Graham.

The defensive team consists of ends Gene Brito of Washington and Robustelli, tackles Art Donovan of Baltimore and Bob Tonnoff of San Francisco, middle guard George Linebackers Joe Schmidt of Detroit and Roger Zatkoff of Green Bay, backs Bob Dillon of Green Bay and Sherman and safetymen Jack Christiansen of Detroit and Emlen Tunnell of the Giants.

Graham was one of the eight repeaters from the 1954 team. The others were Pihos, Groza, Matson, Donovan, Schmidt, Dillon and Christiansen.

Lion Cubs Beaten For First Time

The Greenfield Tiger Cubs squeaked past the WHS Lion Cubs to score a 30-27 win on the McClain court Thursday evening.

The defeat was the first the WHS boys had suffered in their regularly scheduled season. The Cubs lost one practice game against a team of high school freshmen during the Christmas vacation, but before Thursday, they had beaten every junior high team they had played.

Top scorer for the WHS juniors was Ronnie Carter, who poured in 13 points before fouling out early in the final period. Others contributing to the Lion Cub cause were Lynch (6 points), Scott (4), Campbell (2) and Huff (2).

Also in the game for Washington C. H. were Lee, Crooks, Self, Sheppard and Wright.

The boys were driven to Greenfield by Coach Fred Domenico and several of the boys' parents.

Greenberg, Cronin May Gain Laurels

Get as many good players as possible to enroll at Northwestern; teach them the split-T and spin-T offenses; keep being superstitious.

At 32, he is the youngest grid boss in the Big Ten. He comes from Miami of Ohio, a school that has spawned such other big timers as Woody Hayes, Sid Gilman and Stu Holcomb, Northwestern's new athletic director.

Parseghian doesn't like to be called superstitious. "I'm not really," he said in an interview. "Well, what if I have worn the same brown suit and tie every football Saturday? The boys threw me bodily in a shower once and I thought the suit would be wrecked. But it came out all right. I've got it pressed and hung in a plastic bag right now."

"This brown one is getting pretty threadbare in spots. Maybe I'll send it to Miami and have the school retire it."

Parseghian is sure that wearing the garment helped him compile a 39-6-1 record in five seasons at the Ohio school.

He also refused to have his picture printed in the school's football brochure after 1951, his first as coach when Miami won only five of its nine games.

The picture was dropped out in 1952, and his teams began winning. But he says he's not superstitious.

Quick Chief, a colt owned by John Froelich of Brookville, N. Y., won 13 of 20 harness races in 1955 and earned $95,397.

Brown's Team Favorite In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (P)—Coaches Buddy Parker of the North and Paul Brown of the South today decided which of their players will have the job of moving the ball in tomorrow's Senior Bowl game. The South is a slight favorite.

The coaches also named tough defenses with the accent on weight. Parker, coach of the pro Detroit Lions, said he will alternate Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and Iowa's Jerry Reichow at quarterback. Each accounted for more than 1,000 yards this season in the BT Ten, principally on passes.

The South also has fine tossers in Bob Hardy of Kentucky and George Herring of Mississippi Southern. Hardy will probably do most of the signal calling.

Brown, coach of the pro champion Cleveland Browns, named four running backs. Alternating at left half will be Don McIlhenry of SMU and Bob James of Auburn.

Ed Vereb of Maryland will run out of the other halfback slot, and Auburn's Joe Childress will be the fullback.

For the North, Lou Baldecchi of Michigan and Bob Moss of West Virginia will be called on for the wide plays. Fullback Bill Mura-kowski of Purdue was picked for the power bursts.

The kickoff is 2:30 p. m. EST. Mutual Broadcasting System will broadcast the game. There will be no television.

Jap Women Presented In Symphony

MISONO VILLAGE, Japan (AP)—The "Orchestra of the Aunts" celebrated its fifth anniversary today by dashing off Haydn's "surprise symphony."

This 75-piece orchestra, composed entirely of village housewives, is one of those things in Japan stemming from the Allied occupation's "liberation" of Japanese women.

The "Ohasan Gakudan" or "orchestra of the Aunts" sprang up without outside urging five years ago in this small farm village. It has three miles from the grand shrine of Ise, symbol of Japanese culture on Nagoya Bay.

The housewives average 40 years of age. Five years ago they were undistinguished among millions of Japanese housewives, many of whom drudge in field and kitchen day and night, their chief amusement the feudalistic game of nagging their daughters-in-law.

All over Japan after the war women in cities organized clubs and choirs; in Misono they organized an orchestra.

Mrs. Tome Mori, now 49, was secretary of the Village Women's Assn. She couldn't read music. But she got 24 other housewives and asked a music teacher in the village school to train them.

Today, village kids hum Mozart, Schubert and Haydn.

State Blind Aide Repays Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes says a former clerk in the welfare department's services for the blind has repaid a $1,850 shortage in her accounts.

Rhodes said the clerk, Zannah A. McFadden of Columbus, had signed a statement admitting the shortage. She said she "was sick and off work for three months with no money coming in" just before the shortage occurred.

The state auditor said the shortage was uncovered in an audit for the period from June 25, 1948, and last Nov. 3. He said a copy of the audit was sent to the Franklin County prosecutor.

Marilyn Awarded $8 Million Pact

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After a year-long squabble, Marilyn Monroe returns to 20th Century Fox Studio next month with a seven-year contract estimated to be worth more than $8 million.

The contract, with Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc., calls for four pictures in the seven years on a profit-sharing basis. The studio would not comment on the deal, one of the most solid victories for a star fighting a studio.

However, one source close to Marilyn's financial operations explained that the deal "leaves her free to do pictures at other studios and also to name her own price for her television spectaculars."

Air Gun Shooter Given Jail Term

PAINESVILLE (AP)—A 20-year-old youth who admitted shooting and wounding two persons on New Year's Eve "just for the fun of it" was sentenced to four months in Lake County jail yesterday by Judge Albert W. Hayer.

The judge also ordered the defendant, Charles Bismark of Painesville, to pay for a number of windows, electrical signs and lights he had shot out with a high-powered pellet gun.

The youth was charged with assault and battery inasmuch as an air gun is not considered a fire-arm or deadly weapon in Ohio.

Jap Women Presented In Symphony

MISONO VILLAGE, Japan (U)—The "Orchestra of the Aunts" celebrated its fifth anniversary today by dashing off Haydn's "surprise symphony."

This 75-piece orchestra, composed entirely of village housewives, is one of those things in Japan stemming from the Allied occupation's "liberation" of Japanese women.

The "Obasan Gakudan" or "orchestra of the Aunts" sprang up without outside urging five years ago in this small farm village. It lies three miles from the grand shrine of Ise, symbol of Japanese culture on Nagoya Bay.

The housewives average 40 years of age. Five years ago they were undistinguished among millions of Japanese housewives, many of whom drudge in field and kitchen day and night, their chief amusement the feudalistic game of nagging their daughters-in-law.

All over Japan after the war women in cities organized clubs and choirs; in Misono they organized an orchestra.

Mrs. Tome Mori, now 49, was secretary of the Village Women's Assn. She couldn't read music. But she got 24 other housewives and asked a music teacher in the village school to train them.

Today, village kids hum Mozart, Schubert and Haydn.

State Blind Aide Repays Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes says a former clerk in the welfare department's services for the blind has repaid a $1,850 shortage in her accounts.

Rhodes said the clerk, Zannah A. McFadden of Columbus, had signed a statement admitting the shortage. She said she "was sick and off work for three months with no money coming in" just before the shortage occurred.

The state auditor said the shortage was uncovered in an audit for the period from June 25, 1948, and last Nov. 3. He said a copy of the audit was sent to the Franklin County prosecutor.

Marilyn Awarded $8 Million Pact

HOLLYWOOD (U)—After a year-long squabble, Marilyn Monroe returns to 20th Century-Fox Studio next month with a seven-year contract estimated to be worth more than $8 million.

The contract, with Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc., calls for four pictures in the seven years on a profit-sharing basis. The studio would not comment on the deal, one of the most solid victories for a star fighting a studio.

However, one source close to Marilyn's financial operations explained that the deal "leaves her free to do pictures at other studios and also to name her own price for her television spectaculars."

Air Gun Shooter Given Jail Term

PAINESVILLE (U)—A 20-year-old youth who admitted shooting and wounding two persons on New Year's Eve "just for the fun of it" was sentenced to four months in Lake County jail yesterday by Judge Albert W. Haver.

The judge also ordered the defendant, Charles Bismark of Painesville, to pay for a number of windows, electrical signs and lights he had shot out with a high-powered pellet gun.

The youth was charged with assault and battery inasmuch as an air gun is not considered a firearm or deadly weapon in Ohio.

Coil Livestock Trucking Business Sold to Former Oil Company Head

The Coil Livestock Trucking firm today was in the final stages of passing from Sammie J. (Junior) Coil to Arnold Rogers.

The contracts for the sale of the trucking business, which has headquarters on the Circleville pike east of here, including 16 big trailer-truck trucks, were signed late Thursday and Friday Coil and Rogers were in Columbus completing the necessary transfers of permits, licenses, etc., at the state office building.

Neither Coil nor Rogers disclosed the price, but Rogers said with a grin that "it was well over $100,000."

Coil, who built up the huge business after he was discharged from the army in 1946 after the second World War, said he plans to take a rest and then "look around for something else to get into."

He said his farm tractor and equipment business "is for sale. . . I'm getting clear out of business for a while anyway." He said "a couple of men" are interested in buying the business, but he added that no deal has been closed yet.

The restaurant building, now nearing completion on the headquarters tract, is to be leased, Coil said.

The Carolina Motor Express truck line, which leases a part of the tract for its terminal, was not affected by the sale of the Coil Livestock Trucking firm. The Carolina Motor Express, Coil said, will continue to use the terminal under lease, just as it has been since the operations of the two trucking outfits moved their headquarters there about two years ago.

THIS TIME last week, neither Coil nor Rogers even dreamed Coil would be out of the trucking business and Rogers would be in it.

Rogers said we just got to talking about it last Saturday while we were eating breakfast.

Coil said "we finished making the deal in an hour and a half, but it took a couple of days for the lawyer to draw up the papers."

Mr. and Mrs. Coil and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have been good friends for several years—visit back and forth in each other's homes several times a month. Last winter they went to Florida together for a vacation.

Coil said "Dick (that's what he calls Rogers) and I met for the first time when I tried to buy his farm."

Rogers explained that he bought from Coil only the huge livestock trucks and equipment and would lease the shops and parking area surrounding that central building and the office. He also takes over the going business, including the livestock hauling contracts.

Rogers said he was planning to add eight or ten more livestock trucks to the fleet; he explained that "Junior said they would be needed."

The Coil Livestock Trucking firm is generally considered one of the biggest, if not the biggest, operations of the kind in Ohio. It hauls livestock of all kinds in all directions from here—east to New York, Maryland and New Jersey, south into Georgia, west to Chicago and Sioux City and north to the lakes and Canada.

ROGERS, came here six years ago to settle down in a new home he had built on his farm on the Circleville Pike just east of Johnson's Crossing. He had been in the oil business—as the Rogers Oil Co.—for 27 years, as a distributor and operators of service station chains in Uniontown, Pa., where he started as a young man of 22, in Zanesville, Fairmont, W. Va., Akron and Cincinnati. The operations all had been successful, he said.

Although he had been out of the oil business for about 10 years, he had been actively engaged in farming his two farms—the one where he lives and the one on the CCC Highway about 3 miles east of here, known as the George Cline farm, which he bought a few years ago.

But, he admitted he missed the high-gear life to which he had been accustomed in the oil business—so he is now in the livestock trucking business.

He said that with the experience he has had in the oil business—which included operating trucks and service stations—he was confident he would experience no trouble in getting back into a business that spreads over thousands of miles of highways and into many cities and towns.

He laughed as he said his experience in the oil and gasoline business probably would be a help in operating the trucking business.

At home with Mr. and Mrs. Rogers now are a son, Ralph, and a daughter, Betty. Another son, Ronald, is to help with the farm operations as soon as he comes home from the army.

The Coils are going to Florida as soon as his business affairs are put in shape, Coil said. He is going to visit with his folks, who are there now, but he said he did not know whether they would stay there. "If I don't find something to get into there, we'll come back here," he said.

★ Leeuwenhoek, in 1683, was the first to disturb the privacy of the teeming bustle of the unseen world. The "wretched wee beasties" cavorting innocently under his lens were later indicted and convicted by Koch and Pasteur. Unbeknown to Leeuwenhoek, he had discovered a vicious and unseen world of killers, now known as bacteria, or germs.

The span of time between Leeuwenhoek and Pasteur was almost 200 years. Only an average lifetime has passed since Pasteur's experiments, during which practically all we know about disease and its treatment has been discovered. ## Christmas Seal Sale Is Nearing $5,000 Mark

TB and Health Drive Brings Gifts From 2,996 Here So Far

The Christmas Seal sale has so far brought $4,979.80 to the Fayette County TB and Health Association, according to the Association's latest county Friday.

Of 6,246 letters mailed out before Christmas 2,996 had brought responses through Thursday, the Association president, Miss Frances White, said.

The $4,979.80 total to date falls between the two goals set up for the seal sale here. The minimum goal of $4,900 set by the state Association has already been passed, but the $5,000 mark for which the county Association was shooting is still just out of reach.

The $4,900 minimum goal was set by the state Association on the basis of past sales of Christmas Seals, according to Mrs. Jan Geisenhof, the executive secretary here. But officials of the Association here relied on the generosity of Fayette Countyans in setting a "private" goal of $5,000, she said.

If contributions do top the unofficial $5,000 mark as Association officials hope they will, an expanded county program will be possible. Additional educational work will come first on the list, Mrs. Geisenhof said. "People have to know that TB is a contagious disease, she said. "The state Association's motto is one we'd like to put before everyone: 'No home is safe until all homes are safe.'"

EDUCATIONAL WORK is the first step toward stamping out TB, she explained. One of the many ways the county association furthers education of the public is through making film strips available to schools, clubs and other organizations. At present, the film library has five different titles, but more could be added if the $5,000 goal is topped.

That goal may well be reached, too, according to Miss White. Sometime next week, the Association plans to send out reminders to those who received seals and may have forgotten to mail off contributions.

Several of the contribution envelopes were returned without identification labels, the Association officials said, so in some cases reminders may be sent to those who have already made contributions.

Mrs. Geisenhof offered the Association's apologies to those who might receive a reminder envelope after having contributed. She asked everyone in that position to send a note of explanation, if possible, "so that proper credit can be given to each person who shows his sincere support of the work of the local TB Association."

Letters should be addressed to Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, P. O. Box 549, Washington C. H.

Coil Livestock Trucking Business Sold to Former Oil Company Head

The Coil Livestock Trucking firm today was in the final stages of passing from Sammie J. (Junior) Coil to Arnold Rogers.

The contracts for the sale of the trucking business, which has headquarters on the Circleville pike east of here, including 16 big trailer-truck trucks, were signed late Thursday and Friday Coil and Rogers were in Columbus completing the necessary transfers of permits, licenses, etc., at the state office building.

Neither Coil nor Rogers disclosed the price, but Rogers said with a grin that "it was well over $100,000."

Coil, who built up the huge business after he was discharged from the army in 1946 after the second World War, said he plans to take a rest and then "look around for something else to get into."

He said his farm tractor and equipment business "is for sale. . . I'm getting clear out of business for a while anyway." He said "a couple of men" are interested in buying the business, but he added that no deal has been closed yet.

The restaurant building, now nearing completion on the headquarters tract, is to be leased, Coil said.

The Carolina Motor Express truck line, which leases a part of the tract for its terminal, was not affected by the sale of the Coil Livestock Trucking firm. The Carolina Motor Express, Coil said, will continue to use the terminal under lease, just as it has been since the operations of the two trucking outfits moved their headquarters there about two years ago.

THIS TIME last week, neither Coil nor Rogers even dreamed Coil would be out of the trucking business and Rogers would be in it.

Rogers said we just got to talking about it last Saturday while we were eating breakfast.

Coil said "we finished making the deal in an hour and a half, but it took a couple of days for the lawyer to draw up the papers."

Mr. and Mrs. Coil and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have been good friends for several years—visit back and forth in each others' homes several times a month. Last winter they went to Florida together for a vacation.

Coil said "Dick (that's what he calls Rogers) and I met for the first time when I tried to buy his farm."

Rogers explained that he bought from Coil only the huge livestock trucks and equipment and would lease the shops and parking area surrounding that central building and the office. He also takes over the going business, including the livestock hauling contracts.

Unceasing War on a World of Killers

★ Leeuwenhoek, in 1683, was the first to disturb the privacy of the teeming bustle of the unseen world. The "wretched wee beasts" cavorting innocently under his lens were later indicted and convicted by Koch and Pasteur. Unbeknown to Leeuwenhoek, he had discovered a vicious and unseen world of killers, now known as bacteria, or germs.

The span of time between Leeuwenhoek and Pasteur was almost 200 years. Only an average lifetime has passed since Pasteur's experiments, during which practically all we know about disease and its treatment has been discovered. Our knowledge is expanding at an ever-increasing rate. The pharmacist works with the physician in bringing newer and better medication into the sickroom.
